INDIA CAN PLAY BRIDGING ROLE IN DIVIDES CAUSED BY CONFLICTS: JAISHANKAR

ABU DHABI: India can play a bridging role in an increasingly divided world around conflicts such as the war in Ukraine, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said on Monday. At the India Global Forum UAE summit in Abu Dhabi, he highlighted two big divides in the world. "One is the east-west divide around Ukraine and the other is a north-south divide centring around development," he said.

40% OF CBSE 2023 CLASS 10 EXAM Q'S TO BE COMPETENCY-BASED

As for Class 12 examinations, 30% of the questions will be competency-based, the Ministry of Education said on Monday

QUESTIONS COMPRISE MULTIPLE FORMATS

The information was shared by Minister of State for Education Annapurna Devi in response to a written question in the Lok Sabha. "These questions comprise multiple formats such as objective type, constructing response type, assertion and reasoning and case based format," she said. Theory examinations for Class 10 and Class 12 will begin from February 15, 2023

SCHOOLS TOLD TO FOLLOW NEW PATTERN

- The minister said that following the introduction of the National Education Policy, 2020, the CBSE had advised affiliated schools to follow the recommendations regarding the pattern of education
- These include competency-based learning, adoption of learning outcomes, experiential and joyful learning pedagogies, she added

Another LAC clash, this time in Arunachal

At least 6 injured Indian soldiers shifted to Guwahati for treatment, PLA personnel too suffered injuries, says Army

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

INDIAN and Chinese troops clashed near the Line of Actual Control (LAC) along the Arunachal Pradesh border in Tawang sector, resulting in injuries to soldiers on both sides, the Indian army revealed on Monday. At least six injured Indian soldiers have been shifted to Guwahati for treatment following the clash on Friday.

The Army's statement said, "On 09 December 2022, PLA troops contacted the LAC in Tawang Sector which was contested by own troops in a firm and resolute manner. This face-off led to minor injuries to few personnel from both sides."

Both sides immediately disengaged, the statement said, adding, "As a follow up of the incident, own Commander in the area held a Flag Meeting with his counterpart to discuss the issue in accordance with structured mechanisms to restore peace and tranquility."

There were unconfirmed reports of more than 200 Chinese soldiers being involved in the clash. They had spiked clubs and sticks, indicating it was the new normal along the LAC.

In certain areas along the LAC in the Tawang sector, there are differing perception of the border with both sides patrolling up to their respective claim lines. This has been the practice since 2006.

Army chief General Manoj Pandey had last month termed the situation along the 3,488 km long LAC as "stable but unpredictable". He added that India's actions on the LAC are being carefully calibrated to safeguard the country's interests and sensitivities.

There has been intermittent peace since May 2020 when personnel from the both armies had clashed at Finger-4 along the Pangong Lake in Ladakh. This had led to stand-off at multiple points in Ladakh.

After the Galwan Valley clash in Ladakh in 2020, in which 20 Indian Army personnel died, the government started beefing up infrastructure projects closer to the LAC. Since the 2020 clashes, there had been 16 rounds of Corps Commander-level meetings, which led to disengagement in select areas.

5-YEAR-OLD GIRL IN RAICHUR IS STATE'S FIRST ZIKA CASE

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI & AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Raichur/Bengaluru

KARNATAKA's first case of Zika virus has been reported from a village in Raichur district's Manvi taluk. The case of the patient, a five-year-old girl, was processed on December 5 and reported as 'positive' on December 8, but a subsequent test recorded her as Zika-negative, by when she was cured and discharged from hospital.

However, what has baffled the health authorities is that neither the little girl nor her five-member family had any travel history, and they lived in an isolated place in Kolichya village coming under the limits of Neermanvi Primary Health Centre of Manvi taluk (Raichur district). Interestingly, blood and serum samples of all five members of the girl's family which were also sent for testing, were found to be negative for Zika virus.

Karnataka Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar on Monday confirmed to the media in Bengaluru that the girl was tested positive for Zika virus. He said Zika virus cases have been earlier reported from Kerala, Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra a few months ago, but this girl is the first case in Karnataka.

"The case came to light when the girl's serum collected for Dengue and Chikungunya was sent to the Virology lab in Pune for testing. We usually send 10% of such samples for testing. Of the three specimen samples we sent, the five-year-old girl's has come positive. The case was processed on December 5 and reported on December 8," Dr Sudhakar said, adding that the state government was monitoring the situation with caution.

He said that there was no cause for panic and that the health department will soon be issuing detailed guidelines to tackle Zika virus.

Raichur District Health Officer Dr Surendra Babu said two teams of experts from Bengaluru and Kolkata have reached the village to conduct some more tests on the girl, who has recovered. Dr Babu said the girl was suffering from fever and was admitted to Sindhanur Taluk Hospital. P7

OBC-heavy new ministry takes oath of office in Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

A 17-member Gujarat ministry led by Bhupendra Patel took oath of office and secrecy on Monday in the presence of a galaxy of top BJP leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Patel was sworn in as chief minister for the second straight term.

The composition of his ministerial team indicates it was put together keeping the 2024 Lok Sabha elections in mind. For, the OBCs got the biggest slice of the ministerial cake — seven, including four Kolis. OBCs constitute the biggest population chunk in Gujarat.

In comparison, the powerful Patidars got fewer representatives — four, including the chief minister. Besides, two tribals, one Dalit, one Jain and one Anavil Brahmin are part of the ministerial mix. The gender balance is skewed, as the ministry has one woman. Leaders of 12 out of 33 districts of Gujarat have representation in the ministry.

While young MLAs like Alpesh Thakor, Hardik Patel and Rivaba Jadeja did not find a place in the ministry, former chief minister Vijay Rupani explained that the first ministry is always small; it will be expanded in due course. Gujarat can have a maximum of 27 ministers.

Eight of the ministers have cabinet rank. The lone woman, Bhauben Babariya, is part of the cabinet. The other seven cabinet ministers are Kanu Desai, Rishikesh Patel, Raghvji Patel, Balvantsinh Rajput, Kunvarji Bavaliya, Mulu Bera and Kuber Dindor.

Those who took oath as ministers of state with independent charge are Harsh Sanghvi and Jagdish Vishwakarma. In all, 11 former ministers have been inducted into the new team. Seven of them were part of the outgoing ministry.

The PM, in his greetings said, "Congratulations to Bhupendrabhai Patel on taking oath as CM of Gujarat. I would like to also congratulate all those who took oath as Ministers. This is an energetic team that will take Gujarat to even newer heights of progress."

Retail inflation cools to within RBI's target, at 5.88% in Nov

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

AFTER staying above RBI's tolerance band for most of the year, retail inflation fell sharply to an 11-month low at 5.88% in November, against 6.77% in the previous month, thanks to cooling of food prices. Food inflation dropped to 4.67% in November compared with 7.01% in October.

This is the first time in 2022 that the consumer price inflation has come below the Reserve Bank of India's upper limit of 6%. The banking regulator has been taking hard steps to tame inflation, having increased repo rate by 225 basis points since May.

While food, clothing and footwear and housing inflation declined in November, inflation of other commodity groups – pan, tobacco and intoxicants, fuel and light and miscellaneous products is still high. Core inflation surged to 6.04% in November.

The central bank projected inflation to remain above 4% for the next 12 months.

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das, last week, in his monetary policy speech had said, "The worst of inflation is behind us, but there is no room for complacency in the fight against price rise. We will keep 'Arjuna's eye' on the evolving inflation dynamics."

Told to clear dues, woman threatens cops, KSRTC officials with machete

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

A woman threatened and abused government officials and policemen with a machete in her hand in full public view at Sathagalli bus depot in Mysuru on Monday. The woman used foul language against Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) officials when she and her husband were asked to clear the unpaid rent.

According to a complaint filed by Marigowda, divisional traffic officer of Mysuru division of KSRTC, the woman's husband, Shafiq Ahmed had taken a licence to run the KSRTC complex at Sathagalli depot for 12 years but failed to pay the licence fee, GST and electricity bill which runs into Rs 1.89 crore.

In a video which has gone viral on social media, the woman can be seen threatening the KSRTC officials and cops, and can be heard shouting, "I can kill you all with this machete for which I am even ready to go to jail". Another woman, who joined the accused, can be heard saying, "You are targeting us, as we are Muslims".

Shafiq had brought an interim order from a court on not vacating the complex, but after the order was challenged, the court cancelled the licence given to him. When we went to serve him the notice, his wife picked a fight with us and abused us besides threatening to kill us by showing a machete to us

Marigowda, KSRTC official

The woman has been identified as Syed Munibunnisa and her husband, Shafiq is said to be a close associate of Congress MLA Tanveer Sait.

"Shafiq had brought an interim order from a court on not vacating the complex, but after the order was challenged, the court cancelled the licence given to him. When we went to serve him the notice, the woman picked up a fight with us and abused us besides threatening to kill us by showing a machete to us," said the complainant.

Udayagiri police have registered a case under various sections of the IPC.

73-yr-old beaten to death for violating minor?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 73-year-old man was beaten to death on suspicion that he sexually abused a 16-year-old girl, at his residence in Babusapalya. The aged man has been identified as Kuppanna alias Kuppuswamy, a native of Tamil Nadu. He was staying alone in Babusapalya for the last four years and worked as a construction labourer. His sister is said to be staying in Tamil Nadu.

On Sunday around 9.30 pm, the girl had gone to the terrace of her building to bring her uniform which she had put for drying. The aged man, who was her neighbour, allegedly lured her and took her to his house. He is suspected to have given her some drink laced with sedatives. When the girl did not return home, her family went looking for her around 2 am on Monday. They saw her lying naked in the elderly man's house. The girl was immediately rushed to a nearby hospital where she said that Kuppanna allegedly abused her sexually.

RED TAPE OR POLITICS?

One year up, ex-IPS officer's VRS hangs fire

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government is yet to process the voluntary retirement scheme (VRS) of former Indian Police Service (IPS) officer and additional director general of police Bhaskar Rao more than one year after he had applied for it in September, 2021. Rao is the incumbent Vice President of Aam Admi Party (AAP), Karnataka. He had joined the party in April this year after quitting more than three decades of uniformed service. He was appointed as the Vice President (VP) of AAP, Karnataka in June.

While the reasons behind the delay in processing Rao's VRS are not known, this has created a unique situation in the Karnataka IPS cadre with the upcoming vacancy in the post of the Director General of Police (DGP) following the superannuation of the DGP and Chief of Fire & Emergency Services, Home Guards, Civil Defence & State Disaster Response Force (SDRF) Amar Kumar Pandey on December 31. If in service, Rao would have been the senior-most ADGP and promoted in the upcoming vacancy but since he has quit the service, promotion of the next senior-most ADGP and the City Police Commissioner Pratap Reddy is a no brainer. Reddy is a year junior to Rao and belongs to the 1991 batch of IPS.

The departmental promotion committee (DPC) meeting for his promotion to the rank of DGP has been scheduled for December 14. In a scenario, where a senior officer's VRS has been kept pending, will the government promote his junior?

"Rao's VRS maybe processed before that. It maybe in the final stage of approval. Also, in the case of the pending VRS, the government may overlook Rao and promote Reddy," said informed sources.

When asked, Rao told TNIE that "his VRS, for which he had applied in September last year, should be accepted any time soon. It is a matter of time".

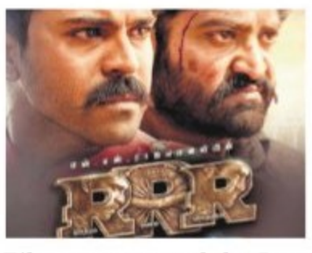
RRR IN GOLDEN GLOBES RACE

VIGNESH MADHU @ Chennai

S S Rajamouli's blockbuster film RRR might not have been India's official entry to the Oscars 2023, but the film is making all the right noises in the award circuit to become a frontrunner across many categories. After multiple wins in various awards in the West, the film has gained another prominent feather in its cap with two nominations at the Golden Globes.

In the nominations announced on Monday, the Jr NTR and Ram Charan-starrer has been chosen under the Best Non-English Language



Film category and the Best Original Song, Motion Picture category (Naatu Naatu).

For the Best Non-English language film, RRR will fight it out against strong contenders like All Quiet on the Western Front (Germany), Argentina, 1985 (Argentina), Close (Belgium), and Decision to Leave (South Korea). RRR is the only Indian film to make the final five amid other entries from the country. These include Kantara, Gangubai Kathiawadi, and Chhello Show, which was India's official entry for the Oscars, for which RRR has been submitted independently.

'Naatu Naatu', composed by M M Keeravani, will be competing at the Golden Globes with 'Carolina' from Where the Crawdads Sing, 'Ciao Papa' from Pinocchio, 'Hold My Hand' from Top Gun: Maverick and 'Lift Me Up' from Black Panther: Wakanda Forever.

VV Puram Food Street all set for a facelift

₹6-cr plan to see better parking, new benches

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

INSPIRED by the successful make-over of Church Street and Commercial Street, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has now set its eyes on giving a facelift to VV Puram Food Street and Sajjan Rao Circle.

Addressing the media, BBMP Special Commissioner for Finance, Jayaram Raipura, said, "VV Puram Food Street will be transformed with more focus on providing amenities like common hand wash at six places, fancy benches for people to sit and eat and systematic parking. The street will be shut for motorists post 6 pm, to allow people to freely walk and eat." The project is being undertaken at a cost of Rs 6 crore.

Raipura also said that the BBMP has taken all the 39 stall owners in the area into confidence and work will begin from Tuesday after a ground-breaking ceremony. He said, once completed, the project will serve as a "model street" and become Bengaluru's identity for food lovers.

"Open spaces are also available which will be developed. We are also aiming at promoting cultural activities by opening theatres at such places," he said.

The renovation work involves laying of 900 diametre pipe ducts on either inside of a storm water drain, concreting the surface, fixing of footpaths, installing oil and grease trap at each stall, providing colour code bins for green waste and installing better signages. The street will also be provided with data cables and electric cable connections for each stall. It will also have fancy lights. The footpath will be widened a bit and the carriageway will be 7 metres wide.

"Tender process for the redevelopment has been completed. The model will be replicated in other areas if required," said Raipura.

The BBMP officers have taken a decision not to disturb the traditional two-week 'Avarekai Mela' that begins in December end and concludes during Sankranti.

It's a long wait for passengers after landing at KIA

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

PASSENGERS arriving at the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) are upset over the long queues at the immigration counters of late, apart from the long wait for one's car to arrive from the parking zone to the pick-up area.

Data scientist Bijit Deka, who reached the city during the weekend, tweeted, "Landed at Bengaluru airport at 2.20 am. Immigration took approximately 2 hours. Luggage took another 30 mins. Total number of people in my flight alone=150. Wastage of 300 man hours!"

Another flyer, Prashant Dayal, tweeted: "Terrible immigration queues at the Bengaluru international airport. Disastrous management and completely unapologetic behaviour. Are we really moving forward? @BLRAirport. Why..oh why have so many flights when there is no capacity and ability to manage the show? 1 hour+."

Queues at immigration counters at Kempegowda International Airport | TWITTER

The chaos outside the airport before heading home irked author Nandita Iyer, who arrived here from Dehradun on Sunday. She told TNIE that she had waited nearly 40 minutes at the pick-up area before her pre-booked cab could reach from the parking lot. "I reached the airport by 7.45 pm and it took me nearly 10 pm to reach home. It was a very stressful experience. Cabs were blocking the lanes and waiting to pick up passengers. No one was paying any heed to the three airport staff trying to regulate the traffic flow here," she said.

Asked about these issues, a BIAL source said, "We are closely coordinating with Immigration and CISF officials to ensure they are doing their best in deploying adequate staff. We have also ensured sufficient support and designated lanes are available for the elderly and passengers with infants."

Stressing that staff at Bengaluru airport were working round-the-clock to regulate the crowd during the holiday season, she said, "In order to accommodate both domestic and foreign traffic during peak hours, we have transformed two international automated tray retrieval system lanes into swing lanes." All checkpoints have well-trained staff to ensure crowd rerouting and distribution between zones.

Despite many attempts, no Immigration official could be reached. "This being the festive season, the rush is heavy. Bengaluru is one of the best-managed airports in the country. When the new terminal opens and traffic gets diverted there, passengers will have a much better experience," a top security official said.

METRO QR TICKETING SYSTEM CRASHES, SET RIGHT AT NIGHT

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

EVEN as thousands of Metro commuters are making use of the recently launched Quick Response (QR) ticketing system of the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd and its WhatsApp Chatbot to book tickets, its server crashed on Monday around 4.30 pm, forcing the public to queue up at stations.

Top Metro officials confirmed to The New Indian Express that the BMRCL server suffered a technical glitch and the process to set it right was under way.

BMRCL launched its single-journey QR ticketing system on November 1 as a Karnataka Rajyotsava gift to the public and it became an instant hit with at least 10,000 QR tickets booked daily now. It also extended the booking through Paytm and Yatra on December 8.

On Monday afternoon,

Karthik Madhavan (name changed) was trying to book a ticket using the Metro app from Baiyappanahalli to Swami Vivekananda Road when this message flashed on the screen: "Something went wrong. Please try again." Repeated efforts to book tickets went in vain. Many commuters had a similar experience.

A senior Metro official said, "The BMRCL server could not cope with the demand to book QR tickets through different apps and it crashed at 4.30 pm."

Another official said it was a technical issue. "Some technical issue has cropped up and our people are working continuously to set it right," he said.

Chief Public Relations Officer, BMRCL, BL Yashavanth Chavan said, "The issue was sorted at 8.35 pm."

A regular Metro commuter said she experienced problems booking Metro tickets digitally earlier too. "I have frequently found it to be an issue to buy tickets by scanning the QR code through GPay and had to pay cash. This is a recurring issue with BMRCL and they need to set it right."

Vehicles ply on the road during heavy rain at Gandhinagar, an impact of Cyclone Mandous, in Bengaluru on Monday | KPN

Mandous brings down business in Bengaluru's marketplaces by 80%

MOHAMMED YACOOB
@ Bengaluru

CYCLONE Mandous has brought in a deluge of problems to Bengaluru, as traders are complaining that because of incessant rain and cold weather, their business has gone down by nearly 80 per cent over the last four days.

Normally, traders do good business in December as people buy gift items and make a lot of purchases. But the cyclone has dampened the pre-Christmas buying frenzy.

GN Diwakar, president, Krishnarajendra Market Traders' Association, said, "The business is almost nil in many shops at the market. Here, 25 different types of trade are carried out, with 2,100 stalls and 25,000 traders. But the business has taken a hit since Friday and it is nearly 80 per cent down."

Mohammed Idreer Chaudry said 471 stalls in Russell Market and traders in seven other markets in Shivajinagar have suffered heavily.

In these areas, there are many street vendors, where they sell fish and other items. But with the rain, they have not been able to do any business.

"It is time the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) provided rain shelters around markets. This will help customers wait till the rain stops and then do their purchases," he added.

Decreased supply

At the Madiwala vegetable market, traders said that farmers from Hoskote, Anekal, Hosur, Malur, Channasandra, Kolar and Kanakapura have not been able to bring their produce here because of the rain.

"The supply is less and there are no customers for the last four days. Nearly 300 traders at the market have been hit hard," said A Pyarejan, president, Madiwala Market Traders' Association.

Non-implementation of schemes is violation of human rights, says Lokayukta

BENGALURU: Karnataka Lokayukta B S Patil said that government schemes should be implemented in true spirit, as poor implementation constitutes a violation of human rights. Speaking at a workshop organised by Bangalore University on 'Good Governance and Human Rights' on Monday, he said that over 70 per cent of the Indian population resides in rural areas and is not aware of its basic human rights. "It is unfortunate to know that despite serious efforts and a lot of money being spent, we find many people facing problems of open defecation, lack of access to drinking water, unemployment, low minimum wages, justice, education, lack nutritious food, and expedited public services. Would this not be constituted as a violation of human rights? These are the basic areas we need to help vulnerable sections," he said, adding that the issues of lakes disappearing and families facing floods due to poor construction speak about the maladministration of the government. He said that the way to rectify this is to ensure that the role of educating citizens is carried out by academic institutions. "Many people residing in rural areas are not aware of their basic human rights. Educating them and ensuring that they have access to their rights is an important role to be played by academic institutions," he said.

TBM Vamika achieves breakthrough

BENGALURU: Bengaluru Metro's Tunnel Boring Machine (TBM) Vamika achieved its breakthrough (emerged overground) on Monday at the Lakkasandra Metro station, after tunnelling 742.6 metres. This second leg of its tunnelling journey began on April 24 at Dairy Circle. During its first leg, it completed 613.2 metres between South Ramp and Dairy Circle station. The TBM will next be deployed for tunnelling between Lakkasandra and Langford Town stations.

Drive launched to encourage use of rail ticketing app

BENGALURU: In a bid to reduce massive queues at railway stations during the festive season, the Bengaluru Division of South Western Railway on Monday launched a one month-long awareness drive to encourage passengers to book unreserved tickets through the Unreserved Ticketing System (UTS) mobile app. A passenger can also book season and platform tickets through the UTS app.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

13TH December : Still on yesterday's Piscean theme, I forgot to say why people born under this sign are some of my favourites. Their huge asset is their flexibility, which some people wrongly read as weakness. In fact, they are able to change their plans, taking advantage of new opportunities, while lesser people are still stuck in the past!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Looking at the long-term, you are coming to a period when many of the powerful events which are lining up will appear to be completely outside your control. However, there will be plenty of space for you to slide between the gaps and exploit the gulf between one pressure and another.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There are times when you can be so very stubborn, but once you have let go you will be able to turn almost any situation to your advantage. At the present time it's all very much a matter of confidence. If you are to do your best, then you need to know that you actually can succeed!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Mercury, the symbol of bright ideas, has a reputation for stirring up mischievous behaviour. This is bound to be enhanced under its current imaginative relationship with Neptune and Pluto, so you may break the rules - all within reason of course!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
All your instincts must be telling you to stay and put up a fight. However, the danger is that you'll be fighting old battles and, even if you win, it is unlikely to do you much good. And then there's the little matter of whether other people will back down - which they probably won't!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
What is revealed now may make you realise that people at home were keeping you in the dark long before you ever suspected it. Hopefully, your sense of humour is sufficient for you to take practical jokes in good part. If it's not, then please lighten up now - while you still have time.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
On a day when the Moon is roughly on your side, the opportunities for self-improvement are limitless. You may even return to activities from which you were once inexplicably barred. Hopefully, you yourself are also no longer making the same old excuses.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You should never try to blame others for your embarrassment, or for any irritation you feel over a current dilemma. There is no need to hold others responsible, for you can rectify the situation without their support. It will be tougher by yourself, but you might have a greater sense of satisfaction at the end.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You should now be beginning to feel very much more optimistic about your family situation, and confident that before the week is out the expected light will be well and truly at the end of what has been a very long tunnel. In other words, you can live in hope!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may turn your gaze to professional affairs and see to it that all details are safely covered, if not by you then at least by others who are competent and responsible. There is no point in hanging back, not when there is so much to gain by moving forward.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Your urge to make a stable nest and build a firm emotional base is powerful, but must now be paid for. Your financial hopes will have to be justified by your available resources, otherwise you'll have to think again. But when it comes to finding the answers, perhaps two heads will be wiser than one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You may be spoilt for choice. The only drawback is the possibility that you're so used to being told that such-and-such a thing is not for you, that you'll completely fail to notice when a golden opportunity passes by. Keep your eyes open!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Your solar chart is in a slightly peculiar state, and you seem to be even more reticent about your true feelings than ever you were in the past. Could the reason be that you made a commitment, but forgot to tell anyone about it? If so, then do something about it before friends get the wrong idea.

Ola, Uber oppose 5% cap on service charge

Govt can't regulate the fee, they plead in HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CAB aggregators Ola and Uber have strongly opposed the state government's notification directing the transport department to restrict them to collect service charges up to 5 per cent only for autorickshaws plying through them.

On Monday, the counsels of the cab aggregators and the advocate general made their submission before Justice CM Poonacha, who was hearing the petitions questioning the impugned notification.

The petitioners contended that the state authorities do not have the power under the Motor Vehicles Act to regulate or fix the 'service fee' charged by aggregators. The 'service fee' does not come under the ambit of fare and cannot be regulated under Section 67 of the Act. The service provided by the cab aggregators is not in the nature of transportation services and is not directly connected with the 'hire' of motor vehicles, the petitioners claimed.

"The business activities of the petitioners are protected under article 19(1)(g) (right to practice any profession). This necessarily involves an element of earning monies to sustain one's livelihood and for profit. Therefore, the restrictions placed by the state authorities in earning monies to sustain its business are in violation of Article 19(1)(g) and hence the impugned notification was issued without application of mind," the petitioners claimed.

On the other hand, the state government defended its action by justifying the notification dated November 25, 2022, imposing restrictions on the service fee. A further hearing will continue on Tuesday.

Voter data theft: Police to check tech documents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Halasuru Gate Police, which is investigating into the BBMP voters' data tampering case, will now check the technical documents submitted by suspended Deputy Commissioner K Srinivas, whose anticipatory bail was rejected two days ago.

The investigating officers said that now the BBMP revenue officers, who are already in jail in connection with the case, will now find it tough to get bail under section 439.

A member from the investigating team said that while the bail order hearing was being pronounced on Friday, Halasuru Gate Police team was not around, and after the order went against the suspended DC, his team walked out.

"The anticipatory bail under IPC section 438 was rejected by a magistrate court. By now, he would have approached the high court for relief. There is a possibility of his arrest," said a source.

Meanwhile, the police are also investigating the evidence submitted by suspended S Rangappa, BBMP Admin Commissioner, in connection with the case.

THE family went to Kuppanna's house and questioned him which led to a heated argument, following which the family of the minor beat him up.

Bheemashankar S Guled, DCP (East) said, "On Monday, the girl's family went to Hennur police station and filed a complaint against the man. When the police went to his house, he was found unconscious. He was shifted to a hospital where he was declared brought dead. Three persons from the minor's family have been taken into custody. A Pocso case has also been booked agaist Kuppanna."

The police are waiting for the autopsy report to ascertain the exact cause of death.

30-yr-old housekeeper of Art of Living Ashram hangs self

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

A 30-year-old man from Haryana, who was working as a housekeeper, in the Art of Living Ashram was found dead under mysterious circumstances on the ashram's premises in Kaggalipura police station limits on Saturday. The victim, Ankush Sharma, who was a resident of Yamuna Nagar in Haryana, used to stay in a room inside the ashram, died by suicide by hanging in a storeroom of the ashram, and was found dead on Saturday around 10.30 am. Over the last few days, the victim had been depressed, and he was constantly speaking to someone on the phone. The Kaggalipura police have registered a case of unnatural death.

A complaint has been filled by Atul Purushotham, who is the house keeping in-charge at the ashram, and has been working there for the last 16 years.

"The victim was working as a housekeeper over the last seven years, and was said to have gone to his native place for a year. He was staying in room number 3 of Brindavan building of the ashram, and was sharing a room with Ajay Singh and Bijay Singh," said an officer. The victim had taken two months' leave to attend the BRIDGE course in the ashram.

"On Friday after he did not attend the course, Purushotham called the victim. When the calls went unanswered, he went to the victim's room and did not see him there. Purushotham found him hanging from the ceiling fan in storeroom number 4. The victim had used a bed sheet to hang," the officer added. The body was shifted to Rajarajeswari Hospital's mortuary for postmortem, after which the body was handed over the victim's family on Monday.

BJP MLA S Suresh Kumar has urged Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman to take steps to ban advertising, and marketing by online gaming companies to lure people to play online games. "The governments have separate funds and have been running campaigns to discourage people from smoking and drinking. The Supreme Court too has laid down measures to prevent selling of tobacco/cigarette near educational institutions. Same regulations should apply to online games," the former minister stated

Kharge's meet convinces DKS, Siddu for joint yatra

Congress likely to announce 150 candidates by mid-January

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

CONGRESS, which has chalked out an extensive road map for the 2023 Assembly, deliberated on its preparedness in New Delhi on Monday under the leadership of AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge. One of the outcomes of the meeting is that the party could release the first list of around 150 candidates in January.

At the three-hour meeting, held at the AICC headquarters, the leaders concluded that a joint yatra, involving all the key leaders including KPCC president DK Shivakumar and Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, should be taken out from mid-January.

AICC General Secretary and Karnataka in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala told the media that the joint yatra will be embarked upon after a series of rallies. The schedule for the joint yatra will be prepared by Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar, he added.

Siddaramaiah clarified, saying, "In the first phase, we will cover 20 district headquarters in the joint bus yatra in south Karnataka. Later, we will form two separate teams, one led by me and another by Shivakumar, to cover the remaining constituencies with different leaders with us so that we can cover the entire state."

In fact, Siddaramaiah had planned a separate yatra from Basavakalyan, setting the tentative date as January 3. At the meeting in Delhi, however, he was convinced to take out the joint yatra. A senior leader, who was part of the meeting, told TNIE that separate yatras planned earlier by Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar came up for discussion and finally, it was decided to go with the joint yatra.

"We suggested that the candidates should be declared before commencing the yatra, and the leaders responded positively," he added. Surjewala said a roadmap has been chalked out for raising the voice of the people against the BJP government led by CM Basavaraj Bommai.

Polls strategist takes over

Sunil Kanugol, an election strategist appointed by the AICC for Karnataka Assembly polls, presented his report before Kharge and exclusively for CLP leader Siddaramaiah, KPCC president DK Shivakumar, AICC general secretaries K C Venugopal and Randeep Singh Surjewala for about 15 minutes. He put forth before them the facts and the outcome of the internal survey and steps to be taken to quell the rebellion in some constituencies. He also briefed them about the situation within BJP and JDS. He suggested timely action to keep up the momentum and claimed that Congress has an edge in the state, sources said.

A series of rallies will be held, including at Vijayapura on December 30, to raise the issue of Krishna river waters and at Hubballi-Dharwad on January 2 to talk about Mahadayi issue as people have been betrayed by governments he said. "The Mahadayi project is equally important for the region, including Gadag. We will tell people how we are planning to implement the project and how the BJP governments at the state and Centre have faltered," he added. The rallies will also target the Bommai government on the 40 per cent commission. After the January 8 SC/ST congregation in Chitradurga, a similar one for OBCs will be held later, he added.

Senior leaders, including HK Patil, KH Muniyappa, Dr G Parameshwara, Dinesh Gundurao, KJ George, KPCC campaign committee chairman MB Patil, working presidents Saleem Ahmed, Eshwar Khandre, Ramalinga Reddy, Satish Jarkiholi and Dhruva Narayana, were present.

Siddu's disrespect to Kharge? Video goes viral

Kalaburagi: Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah allegedly disrespecting AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge by not standing up when the latter arrived on the dais to participate in the Kalyana Kranti Convention here became viral on Monday. Seven district Congress units of Kalyana-Karnataka organised the convention to accord a grand reception to Kharge on Saturday, as it was his maiden visit to Kalaburagi after assuming office as AICC chief. When Kharge came near the dais, KPCC president DK Shivakumar and other leaders stood up as a mark of respect, while Shivakumar went near the steps to bring him on to the dais. But Siddaramaiah remained sitting, the video shows. When TNIE contacted KPCC vice-president D Sharanprakash Patil, a staunch follower of Kharge, he said he did not notice the incident.

MAHA SHOULD BE TOLD BORDER ISSUE IS SETTLED: SC ADVOCATE

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

AHEAD of Union Home Minister Amit Shah's meeting chief ministers of Karnataka and Maharashtra on December 14 in New Delhi on the boundary row, legal experts and leaders have suggested some measures that could help place the state government in a better position.

Already, a delegation of Maharashtra leaders has met Shah in New Delhi a few days ago, complaining that Marathi-speakers in Belagavi being harassed and that the Karnataka government has failed to protect them.

A senior advocate in the Supreme Court, Mohan Katarki, who has been handling several major inter-state disputes in the country for a long time, said, "By virtue of absolute powers vested under Article 3, Parliament allocated Belagavi district to Karnataka under the States Reorganisation Act of 1956 by transferring the district from erstwhile Bombay State to New Mysore State (renamed Karnataka in 1973) along with erstwhile Dharwad, erstwhile Bijapur and north Kanara districts. Maharashtra has no grounds to question the legislative policy decision of Parliament. Its demand to transfer Belagavi is not justified, either in law or fact. The matter has been sealed by Parliament forever in favour of Karnataka."

The decision of Parliament was based on linguistic, historical and contiguity considerations. It was fully backed by the States Reorganisation Commission's recommendation, which was later validated by the Mahajan Commission in 1962. The Bombay legislature did not object when the States Reorganisation Bill of 1956 was approved, he observed.

"The Centre must convey this firmly to the Maharashtra government in the upcoming CMs' meeting," he added.

'Declare Belagavi a UT'

At a Marathi Sahitya Sammelan held at Belgundi near Belagavi on Tuesday, several well-known Marathi leaders appealed to the Centre to declare Belagavi a UT till the boundary dispute case in the Supreme Court is resolved. Otherwise, all official government documents should be provided in Marathi to Marathi-speaking people in the region.

MAHA KANNADA FORUMS TO MEET BOMMAI

Despite the Maharashtra government threatening gram panchayats of Akkalkot and Jath taluks that have demanded their merger with Karnataka, a delegation of Kannada leaders from both the taluks and members of various Kannada organisations in Belagavi have sought to meet CM Basavaraj Bommai. They have requested for his time during the 10-day winter session of the state legislature in Belagavi. The gram panchayats have passed resolutions for the merger with Karnataka, hitting out at the Maharashtra government.

Shah to meet Bommai, Shinde tomorrow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai will leave for New Delhi on Wednesday to meet Union Home Minister Amit Shah, who has convened a meeting on the border dispute with Bommai and his Maharashtra counterpart Eknath Shinde, said sources in the Chief Minister's Office. This is the first time that the Centre is intervening in the Karnataka-Maharashtra border row. Bommai will leave for Delhi via Hubballi on Wednesday, and his meeting with Shah is scheduled in the evening.

Last week, Bommai had said Karnataka MPs will meet Shah on Monday. But Shah was in Gujarat to attend the swearing-in of Gujarat Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel.

A BJP MP, on condition of anonymity, told TNIE that they had not got any message and if allowed, he will be there to meet Shah. "This is about our state, and we will stand up for our demands," he added.

Maharashtra is laying claim to Belagavi city and hundreds of villages from various districts, while many villages in Maharashtra want to be merged with Karnataka. The matter, however, is before the Supreme Court.

Maharashtra MPs met Shah recently and demanded action against Bommai and others. "Union Minister Pralhad Joshi and others also tried to get an appointment to meet Shah along with other Karnataka MPs. As Shah was busy in Gujarat, they could not meet him," said sources.

RAITA MORCHA TO HOLD FARMERS' CONVENTION, MODI MAY ATTEND

Hubballi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi is expected to attend the farmers' convention which will be organised by the Raita Morcha of the state BJP at Hubballi in January. A meeting of the state BJP office-bearers is scheduled to be held this week to finalise the date for the convention and seek time from the Prime Minister's Office. Raita Morcha state vice-president Shanmukh Gurikar said they want Prime Minister Narendra Modi to address the rally to explain what policies and programmes have been implemented for farmers, and what steps the government will take for their welfare. "Moreover, his (Modi's) presence at the convention would also give a momentum to the party in the run-up to the elections," Gurikar said. The Raita Morcha, however, is not satisfied with the increase in fair and remunerative price (FRP) for sugarcane by Rs 50 per metric tonne.

G20 delegates to visit Nandi Hills, Hampi

ENS @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Tourism is all set to showcase the state's rich culture and heritage and its industrial and technology strength to G20 delegates.

"Karnataka will host 14 G20 meetings (11 in Bengaluru, two in Hampi and one in Mysuru). This is the highest after Delhi-NCR and the state is honoured to be given this opportunity. Excursions have been planned in Bengaluru as well as for Nandi Hills, Bhoga Nandeeshwara Temple, Mysuru and Hampi. We want the G20 Secretariat to showcase the Golden Chariot," said a release.

Karnataka is geared up to receive the delegates at the JW Marriott Prestige Golfshire for the first set of G20 Meetings from December 13-17. First, the Finance and Central Deputies meeting will be held from December 13-15 and the first Framework Working Group meeting will be held on December 16 and 17. The department has planned live performances of 30-45 mins each evening of G20 meets. A Bengaluru City Tour has been organised on December 15.

Siddu promises action on Sadashiva panel report

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

SENIOR Congress leader Siddaramaiah who, as the chief minister failed to take a decision on the implementation of Justice AJ Sadashiva commission's report on the classification of the Scheduled Caste (SC) quota for internal reservation, has now declared that if Congress comes to power in Karnataka, they will take action.

The BJP government led by CM Basavaraj Bommai has been trying to impress upon the SC/STs by hiking the quota by 6 per cent ahead of the Assembly elections next year. Siddaramaiah attacked the police for arresting SC left community activists who had tried to lay siege to Bommai's residence on Sunday, demanding implementation of the report.

"The BJP government has arrested the activists who were demanding the implementation of internal reservation. I condemn it," he tweeted, and also promised that his party will accept the report, by taking all communities in the SC category into confidence, and recommend the Centre to implement it. In 2018, when Congress lost the assembly polls, the report was cited as one of the factors, after which, the SC left community has broadly leaned towards the BJP, it was said.

When various factions of the Dalit Sangharsha Samithi held a 'cultural resistence' rally on December 6, a resolution was passed to demand the implementation of the Justice AJ Sadashiva commission report. Congress which is scheduled to hold a SC/ST 'Aikyata Samavesha' in Chitradurga on January 8 is likely to make an announcement, sources said.

The commission had submitted its report to the government in 2012 when DV Sadananda Gowda was the CM.

B'luru Land Reforms Bill to be discussed in B'gavi session: Speaker

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Belagavi

Assembly Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri, who reviewed arrangements for the 14th Legislative session to be held at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha (SVS) in Belagavi from December 19 to 30, said that the session will see discussions on Bengaluru Land Reforms Bill and Kannada Comprehensive Development Bill, which were already tabled in the previous session in Bengaluru.

During an interaction with media persons on Monday, he said, "The 10-day winter legislative session in Belagavi is important for the government as only joint session and budget session of the government are left before elections are announced. All Covid-19 regulations have been lifted for this session. As more than 15,000 people visited the Vidhana Soudha in the previous session, we are expecting a similar number of visitors in Belagavi as well. There will be provisions for spot ID cards," he said.

Of the six bills to be taken up for discussion and approval, four are new. As it is necessary to discuss issues of Kalyana Karnataka and North Karnataka, more time will be reserved for it. On the first day, condolences will be expressed over the deaths of Deputy Speaker Anand Mamani and other personalities, and then a meeting of the Business Advisory Committee will be held, he said.

Kageri recalled that he had launched the 'best legislator' award of which BS Yediyurappa was the first recipient, and announced that the concept is back, and another legislator will receive the award in Belagavi.

He also reviewed the preparations made for the session during a meeting, where arrangements for food, accommodation, security, and transportation for MLAs, ministers, and officers were reviewed. Secretary of the Assembly Vishalakshi, Belagavi DC Nitesh Patil, Zilla Panchayat Chief Executive Officer Darhan HV, Police Commissioner Dr MB Boralingaiah, SP Dr Sanjeev Patil were present in the meeting.

Meanwhile, the protest location for organisations has been shifted to Bastwad village, 1 km away from Suvarna Soudha.

Veerashaiva Mahasabha event to see Cong, BJP jostle for Lingayat votes

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IT will be a straight fight between BJP and Congress in the jockeying for one-upmanship at the all-India Veerashaiva Mahasabha convention that will be held over the next few days. This is one of the most-important Lingayat community meetings and comes at a time when the Assembly polls are five months away.

While Mahasabha president is Shamanur Shivashankarappa, a Congress leader, the opposition party has 14 of its MLAs as Mahasabha members. It lost two MLAs, BC Patil and Mahesh Kumatahalli, to BJP. JDS had four legislators in the Mahasabha in 2018, but it now has three after losing MC Managuli. BJP is far ahead of the two parties with 40 MLAs.

While CM Basavaraj Bommai, a Lingayat, will inaugurate the Mahasabha on December 24, former CM BS Yediyurappa, also a Lingayat, will take part in the valedictory on December 26. But there could be a cloud over the celebrations as Panchamasalis, who are the largest block of Lingayats constituting over 50 per cent of the community, are threatening to continue their protest demanding 2A reservation status.

Political analyst BS Murthy said, "We have to see what the community pontiffs and leaders have to say about the pending demand of Panchamasali. Bommai has been on the edge regarding this issue and has been finding it difficult to manage."

Historically, parties backed by Lingayats have won elections. In 1989, Congress that was led by Veerendra Pati romped home, while in 1983-88, the community favoured Janata Party and helped it win.

A Veerashaiva Mahasabha office-bearer told TNIE, "After the insult to Yediyurappa, Lingayats are slowly moving away from BJP. Can Congress capitalise on this?"

Scouts, Guides to supply 2 lakh rotis for jamboree

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

AS the international cultural jamboree of Scouts and Guides is set to be held at the campus of Alva's College in Moodbidri from December 21 to 27, Gadag Scouts and Guides members have come up with a novel initiative. They are planning to send 2 lakh jowar rotis to Moodbidri before the event. Around 50,000 students and 10,000 teachers from India, Canada, Malaysia, Thailand and 10 other countries will participate in the function.

The Gadag District Scouts and Guides has given responsibility to its members to collect 40,000 to 50,000 rotis from each taluk. Sharanu Barker, a student from Vivekanandanagar of Gadag town, said, "Our teachers and other members have decided to send jowar rotis. Students from other region are also supplying food items. The Gadag Scout and Guides team has decided to send 2 lakh rotis, and to achieve it, we are reaching out to every nook and corner of the district to give orders and get rotis. As on Monday, we have collected almost 80,000 rotis, and we will send them two or three days before the event."

Lakshmeshwar BEO, who mooted the idea, said, "It will be a congregation of students from across the world. We want them to taste rotis, shenga (groundnut) chutney and curd. As of now, we have planned to send 2 lakh rotis and 2 quintals of shenga chutney."

8 Kerala VCs appear for hearing, tell guv appointment is valid

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

GOVERNOR and Chancellor Arif Mohammed Khan on Monday held a hearing of eight of the 10 VCs who were served show-cause notices in October. Khan had served the notices on the VCs asking them why they should continue in office in the wake of a recent Supreme Court ruling that VC postings against UGC regulations were 'ab-initio' void. While three VCs appeared in person, five filed their statements via their counsels.

"The VCs had the option of appearing in person or filing their statements through counsels," said an official, adding that no immediate action against the VCs was likely as the appointment of some of them was sub-judice.

According to the official, the VCs contended that their appointments were in order as per the rules governing their respective universities and that they were entitled to continue in office. Digital University Kerala VC Saji Gopinath, Sree Narayana Guru Open University VC Mubarak Pasha and ex- VC of Kerala University V P Mahadevan Pillai appeared in person. Though his term ended on October 24, Pillai appeared as he was served notice while in office. Though Kannur University VC Gopinath Ravindran had said he will not attend the hearing, his counsel appeared on his behalf, as did the counsels of VCs K N Madhusoodanan (Cusat), V Anil Kumar (Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam University), M K Jayaraj (Calicut University) and M V Narayanan (Sree Sankaracharya University of Sanskrit)

Though 10 VCs were issued the show-cause notice, only nine had to appear as the Kerala High Court had quashed the appointment of Kerala University of Fisheries and Ocean Studies VC Riji K John in November.

Of the nine, the hearing of MG University VC Sabu Thomas, who is out of the country, was deferred to January 3 based on his request.

VCs UNDER THE SCANNER

- 10 VCs had received show-cause notice, eight gave replies
- 3 VCs appeared in person: Kerala University (former), Digital University, SNG Open University
- 5 VCs filed statement through counsel (Kannur, Cusat, Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam University, Calicut University, Sanskrit University)
- Hearing of MG University VC deferred to January 3

Elephant Task Force members capture wild tusker Bhaira near U-Hosalli in Mudigere taluk on Sunday evening. Bhaira, who was elusive for the past few months, was sighted by people near Hosalli on Sunday morning. A team of forest personnel and tamed elephants that was on a combing operation in the Kundur forest region, was rushed to Hosalli to capture the tusker. Around 4 pm, the team tranquilised the elephant. Bhaira will be shifted to the Mattigodu elephant camp

Centre to lay optical fibre cables between TS, K'taka

SUNNY BASKI @Hyderabad

IN a major move that will facilitate smooth rollout of 5G network, the Central government has decided to lay optical fibre cables between Telangana and Karnataka to provide high-speed internet connectivity not just in cities and towns but also in remote villages.

The National Highways Logistics Management Limited (NHLML) has been entrusted with the responsibility of laying 500 km of optic fibre cables from Hyderabad to Bengaluru. Optic fibre is the preferred medium for existing wireless backhaul networks.

Post pandemic, the demand for internet and its speed have accelerated, wherein optic fiber networks became a key for 5G technology.

Telecom operators are in the race to upgrade the digital infrastructure to cater to the growing needs of the internet users.

Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari said that in line with PM Gati Shakti initiative, NHLML, a fully owned SPV of NHAI formed under the guidance of MoRT&H has undertaken the development of digital infrastructure (Optical Fiber Cables) across the country, "starting with the flagship Delhi-Mumbai Expressway (~1370 kms) and Hyderabad-Bangalore corridor (~500 kms).

"This initiative will empower the government to provide internet connectivity to not only major towns and cities but also to remote locations and far-flung areas, and significantly boost 5G rollout across the nation," Gadkari posted on Twitter.

Earlier, Jio launched its 5G services in Hyderabad and offered customers internet speed from 500 Mbps to 1 Gbps on smartphones.

AFTER HC ORDER, FRESH FIR FILED AGAINST DUNIYA VIJAY IN 2018 CASE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING direction from the Karnataka High Court, the High Grounds police have registered a fresh FIR in connection with a 2018 case involving Kannada actor Vijay, well-known as 'Duniya' Vijay. The police have booked two people, including a gym trainer, for intimidating the actor and damaging his car.

On September 23, 2018, Vijay and his son Samrat had gone to Dr BR Ambedkar Bhavan, where a bodybuilding competition was being held and Vijay was the chief guest. When they entered the venue, one Maruti Gowda had hurled filthy abuses at them and had allegedly threatened to finish them.

Meanwhile, agitated fans of the actor reportedly surrounded Gowda, and Vijay saved him and took him in his car. However, Gowda's relative, Panipuri Kitti, who has trained several actors in bodybuilding, immediately approached the High Grounds police and lodged a kidnap case, accusing Vijay of kidnapping Gowda. As the police contacted Vijay and asked him to come to the station, the actor brought Gowda to the station. Before he entered the station, Kitti and his aides had allegedly threatened Vijay and also damaged his car.

The police had arrested Vijay and three others on charges of kidnapping and the actor had filed a counter-complaint against Kitti, Gowda and others. "However, Kitti had approached the High Court, which quashed the FIR registered against him. The actor had challenged the order and the High Court directed to register an FIR recently. Based on the court direction, we have registered a fresh FIR against Kitti, Gowda and others," a police official said.

The governor has approved the recommendation. The swearing-in-ceremony will be held at 9.30am at Durbar hall." ENS

BJP targets those who point out its failures: Kavitha

Hyderabad: A day after she was examined by Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) officials over her links to the accused in the Delhi liquor scam, Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) MLC K Kavitha said women from Telangana are strong and won't back down at the first sign of intimidation. She said Telangana Jagruthi (TJ) would continue working for the people as it has since the inception of the State. At the TJ State committee meeting on Monday, she said the BJP was attacking those who are exposing its failures. "The BJP is individually targeting those who point out its failures. They are spreading false propaganda on the pretence of leaks to damage their personal image," she said. ENS

Sabarimala to restrict devotees to 90k a day

T'Puram: The number of devotees booking darshan to the Sabarimala hill shrine in the virtual queue system will be restricted to 90,000 per day in view of the heavy rush. The earlier maximum cap was 1.2 lakh devotees. The decision was taken at a high-level meeting chaired by Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan in Thiruvananthapuram on Monday. It was also decided to continue with the 30-minute extension to darshan timings announced on Sunday. The extended timings are 3am to 1.30pm and 3pm to 11.30pm. The number of ashtabhishekam and pushpabhishekam rituals will be restricted too. ENS

AFTER ODISHA BYPOLL, CONGRESS LOSES BOTH ITS PLOT AND FACE

Every time there is a poll in Odisha, the Congress plumbs the depths of a new low. The latest comes in the wake of the Padampur by-election loss. Calling its performance dismal would be an understatement, though. The party was expected to come third in the race but not by such a long distance. Its nominee, a three-time MLA from the Assembly segment, forfeited his deposit and now, the party is charged with willingly transferring its votes to the Biju Janata Dal. The BJP flung the accusation that there was a deal between the regional outfit and the Congress ahead of the bypoll. Coming from the saffron party, desperate to wrest back the seat, such an allegation only seemed natural after its defeat, but when a senior Congress MLA weighed in with sort of an affirmative note, all hell broke loose.

If numbers tell a story, the Congress candidate who had secured a 16.25% vote share in 2019 managed just 1.73% in the bypoll, triggering wild speculations of an en bloc transfer of votes. That pretty much sums up the Congress' story. Odisha is just an example of how the party lost its plot, and no one is interested in restoring the house. Once a stronghold where it ruled for nearly 38 of the last 71 years, the state has alienated the Congress big time. In 2000, when the BJD assumed power, the Congress enjoyed a vote share of 33.78%. First, it was the BJD which ate into its space and later, the BJP chewed up the rest, leaving it with a depleted vote share of 16.12% in 2019.

What has not helped is a combination of favouritism, incessant infighting, and the Central leadership's lack of interest. Once helmed by tall leaders who had pan-India recognition, the Congress does not even have one who commands respect across the state. The party has not even groomed young leaders who can step up.

That the high command recently chose to hand over the reins to one who was state unit chief way back in 2002 says it all. Rahul Gandhi may have been on the long road to reviving the party, but neither he nor AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge appear to know the malaise inflicting the states. Political parties evolve and reinvent themselves with time. The Congress seems to have found a reverse evolution button.

TAMIL NADU'S MMR AT 54, HAS TO DROP FURTHER

The Tamil Nadu healthcare system received another boost recently. According to a special bulletin from the Union Health Ministry, the state's Maternal Mortality Rate (MMR) dropped to 54 per one lakh live births in 2018–20 against 58 in 2017–19. In comparison, the national figure stands at 97. TN is among the eight states that have achieved the Sustainable Development Goals target of an MMR under 70 for one lakh live births by 2030.

However, the state cannot afford to rest on its laurels. Its laurels look shabby when seen against the performance of its neighbours. A comparison with other southern states puts TN in fourth place, with only Karnataka behind it. The Telugu states—Telangana (56 to 43) and Andhra (58 to 45)—are ahead of TN while yet again, Kerala (30 to 19) remains the nation's leader on this front.

The state already tracks every pregnant woman and has schemes tailored to meet their nutritional needs and incentivise institutional delivery, which is nearly 100%. Every maternal death is audited on four levels. Health officials have identified postpartum haemorrhage (PPH) and pregnant-induced hypertension as the main causes of maternal deaths. A study on trends in maternal mortality in India over two decades, published recently, noted that in 'richer' states such as TN, the proportion of hypertension-related maternal deaths was higher compared to PPH in 'poorer' states and argued there must be better efforts to prevent, diagnose and treat the condition. The health department plans to do just that by focusing on 11 districts with a concentration of such cases and providing anganwadis with BP kits to identify hypertension at the earliest. It also initiates yoga classes at the PHC level to help pregnant women. Doctors have also suggested the state open more Comprehensive Emergency Obstetric and New Born Care Centres. Interventions that have succeeded in some well-performing districts could also be replicated elsewhere.

In this context, the health minister's crusade to reduce C-section deliveries to "zero" in government hospitals may be a distraction. Arbitrary targets will not help the state's efforts. Rather, careful, granular analysis and tailored interventions backed by the requisite monetary commitments are the need of the hour. A state whose pioneering initiatives in healthcare have been replicated in other states cannot afford to rest on its laurels and fall behind.

QUICK TAKE

ENFORCE NEW LABOUR CODES

The Bharatiya Mazdoor Sangh recently raised the issue of big industries not following labour practices in the country. The problem is graver, stemming from poor quality of jobs, inadequate incomes and bad working conditions. The government's new labour codes simplify labour laws, universalise minimum wages provision, fixing floor wages and timely payment. However, the states are yet to notify all the codes for enforcing them. Some states must also assuage labourers' fears over extended shift timings, recognition of trade unions, issues about layoffs and resorting to strikes. Extending social protection to migrant workers and recognising invisible labour are still pending.

UKRAINE WAR AND ITS LONG ROAD TO THE FINISH LINE

Former Commander, Srinagar-based 15 Corps. Now Chancellor, Central University

SOURAV ROY

Admittedly, those of us who were hopeful that we had seen the first signs of conflict termination in the Ukraine war a few weeks ago have had to eat crow. In the last few weeks, the Russian response to recent Ukrainian success has been towards Ukraine's infrastructure, and the focus on its destruction reveals that Putin is still convinced that he can achieve victory by subjecting the populace to the pressure of discomfort. He has bought a lot of drones from Iran, which seems to be producing these en masse, and employed 'swarming' to target the power and energy grid in particular. The aim is to turn the Ukrainian economy into shambles and make the public so uncomfortable in the miserable East European winter that pressure is built upon the governments of NATO to pursue peace rather than continue looking for ways to win the war.

Ever since the end of the Second World War, on average, the most comfortable population of the world has been the population of Europe. The idea of bleak cold winters creates a fair amount of consternation among them; it's such a winter that awaits them if the war continues, and that too with such intensity of targeting of built-up areas and population centres.

The information we are receiving is filtered through Western news agencies and other well-known organs of liberal freedoms, all of whom have virtually subjected themselves to the information warfare machinery and described in fair detail the war on the infrastructure that is underway.

There is a fair amount of truth about destroying civilian infrastructure to render human survival impossible in built-up areas; it is unethical. In conventional wars, a temporary ceasefire is often resorted to, allowing corridors for civil logistics for survival and basic comforts of the public, which should be subject to none of the vagaries of war.

The problem arises when soldiers mingle with the public, and each urban structure becomes a pill box. Ethics are often thrown to the wind, and the sufferers are the non-combatants and the innocent; none of this seems to have happened here, and there are very few irregulars fighting unconventionally. Putin is hoping that the misery of the populace will lead to such pressure on Zelensky that his Man of the Year award by Time will be seriously questioned by his own population.

A few questions arise. Putin recently mentioned a 'potential settlement' to end the war. We have gotten used to these half statements, which he uses to test the waters and gauge response. What will it take to get him to seriously consider a ceasefire (who offers it first is immaterial because it must happen in the back channel)? NATO will not accept anything without clear terms of reference and a semblance of balance in the operational environment.

Ideally, he would want assurances about Donbass being under Russian control with the withdrawal of Ukrainian forces, no further expansion of NATO with Ukraine refraining from seeking NATO membership, and full access for all Russian naval and commercial shipping through the Black Sea ports.

None of these conditions is likely to be met as part of the ceasefire agreement because they form the very reasons for this war; all will come under negotiation. Ceasefires are negotiated in back channels to ease tensions, prevent unnecessary loss of life, and facilitate an environment of greater positivity to arrive at a settlement or solution. Clearly, the parties to the conflict will have to seek ways of achieving this. Victory and defeat form no part of this, and military egos must be shed. Bottom lines will need to be sought and identified. An 'as is where is' line of deployment may not be acceptable to Ukraine since most of the areas still occupied by Russia would form part of Ukrainian territory. Under status quo ante, Donbass and Luhansk were yet under Ukrainian control, with a proxy hybrid war continuing since 2014.

In the interim, Russia has conducted a referendum with the populace being majority ethnic Russian and officially annexed the region along with Luhansk. Battle lines are, therefore, hazy and unlikely to be neat enough to establish a fail-safe ceasefire. Yet the first step towards a return to peace is a ceasefire and freezing of all operational activity. In the existing trust deficit environment, such an arrangement seems almost impossible.

Can the United Nations use its good offices to negotiate a ceasefire and ensure its implementation? It has institutional experience in handling big-ticket events such as the Gulf War, but this situation is way more challenging due to the complexities of interests and alignments, as well as the involvement of big powers.

From all angles of analysis, persistence of the war is on the cards. The international community makes efforts towards limiting the war to areas not occupied by civilians. What needs to be understood here is that the war is almost entirely being fought on Ukrainian territory with almost zero feasibility of quid pro quo targeting of Russian infrastructure and civilian population.

Short of destroying Russian artillery, missile and drone resources, and rendering that capability below optimum for effect against Ukraine's assets and infrastructure, it is challenging to get Putin to perceive that his battlefield progress will not fetch him success. For that, strong air power capability is required, which is something the Ukrainian air force may not be able to deliver. Ground offensives are essentially ripostes and not counter-offensives that will lead to grand territorial gains.

The nuclear risk is likely to continue, albeit with less frequent rhetoric and less manoeuvre involving anything remotely nuclear. Diplomacy must start to play a major role. Otherwise, the contingencies will get more serious, and responses may be wanting. A way towards some dilution of tensions could be measures such as the agreement on the movement of grain, or management of nuclear safety risks at Ukraine's Zaporizhzhya power plant. Restrictions on armour movement into built-up areas, prisoner exchanges and flag meetings are all helpful in reducing tensions. More administrative ways can be found to dilute the antipathy even as the war rages on. A ceasefire seems almost impossible, but a slow build-up to it remains a possibility.

My prediction remains that a sudden seizure of operations will come about in early summer—it's more conjecture; what can it otherwise be in this war, where information seems to be the biggest resource and weapon.

IN TRUSTS RATAN TATA TRUSTS

ALAM SRINIVAS
Independent journalist and author

Whoever controls Sir Ratan Tata Trust and Sir Dorabji Tata Trust, and their dozen allied ones, wields power over Tata Sons, the parent company of the sprawling salt-to-software business empire. He or she—Ratan Tata is the current chairman of the two entities—lords over dozens of operational arms such as TCS, Tata Steel, Tata Motors, Tata Power, and Tata Chemicals. Who will be Ratan's successor-heir as the next chairman of the trusts? Rather, who, among the current trustees, loyalists and outsiders, has the most likely chance to do so?

These questions are worth at least $275 billion, the combined market capitalisation of 17 listed Tata firms as of 12 p.m on December 2, 2022. The recent changes in the rules that govern the trusts and the induction of new trustees hint that the succession strategy is underway. It's a matter of a few years or months before we know whether a 'Tata', a non-family 'Parsi', or an outsider will head the two trusts. But herein lies the catch. Ratan Tata was pressured to decouple the posts of Chairman, Tata Sons, and Chairman, Tata Trusts. Now, the same person cannot occupy both.

Ratan Tata's wealth inheritor will not be his business heir. This opens the doors for the continuation and future entry of a professional chairman at Tata Sons and other operational arms, even as a family member or loyalist closely monitors the workings of the trusts and the conglomerate through the trusts' 66% stake in Tata Sons. This is exactly what Ratan Tata aimed to do when he inducted a relative, the late Cyrus Mistry, as the 'professional' chairman of Tata Sons. But they fell apart in a nasty manner, which led to ugly legal and media battles.

Luckily for Ratan Tata, the Supreme Court order in the Tata-Mistry case made his position, and that of the trusts, stronger. The apex court ruled that the trusts and their chairman have the right to interfere in the workings of Tata Sons. Through the one-third of directors nominated on the board of Tata Sons, the trusts can influence crucial decisions such as five-year and annual strategic plans, future investments, and the size of the debt. They possess affirmative rights—unless the majority of trust-appointed directors give its nod, an issue taken up by the board dies a natural death. It implies that the trusts can do similar things with the operational arms, whose fate is decided by Tata Sons.

The war with Cyrus came as a rude shock to Ratan Tata after he stepped down as Tata Sons' chairman, sidelined his half-brother, Noel, and chose Mistry as his successor. Now, the family is back. Insiders are now important in Ratan's scheme of things. Noel is a trustee in Sir Ratan Tata Trust and Sir Dorabji Tata Trust, which together own over 50% in Tata Sons. He is a trustee in two allied trusts, Bai Hirabai JN Tata Navsari Charitable Institution and JN Tata Endowment.

More than a month ago, in a move that seemed critical to the succession issue, Noel's three children, daughters Leah and Maya, and son Neville, were inducted as trustees of Tata Medical Center Trust, which manages a cancer-care hospital in Kolkata.

PTI

> Ratan Tata's wealth inheritor will not be his business heir. This opens the doors for the continuation and future entry of a professional chairman at Tata Sons

The entry of young blood—the children are in their thirties—and media reports that the trio will work under Ratan's supervision, indicated the latter's intentions to pass on the baton to one or three of the kids in the distant future. (Recently, another owner of an Indian conglomerate, Mukesh Ambani, anointed his two sons and daughter as successors.)

Then there is another, more 'hidden out of sight' Tata. He isn't directly in the picture but can play a larger-than-life role in succession planning. A media report states that he "lives a quiet, reticent life in a humble flat in Colaba (Mumbai)". Apart from being a shareholder of Tata Sons and other operational arms, Jimmy Tata, Ratan's real brother, is a trustee in Sir Ratan Tata Trust and allied ones like Sarvajanik Seva Trust and Bai Hirabai JN Tata Navsari Charitable Institution. He doesn't own a mobile but knows the pulse at Bombay House, the Tata Group's headquarters. During the Mistry-Ratan war, he had a thick file that contained "letters to the trustees of Sir Ratan Tata Trust and the board of Tata Sons" about several issues.

Never underestimate a 'Mistry'. After Cyrus' rise and fall—the ascent of Mehli Mistry, whose mother is Cyrus' mother's sister—within Tata Trusts seems phenomenal. He is a trustee in Sir Ratan Tata Trust and Sir Dorabji Tata Trust. Crucially, he is Ratan's close friend. Before his untimely death, Cyrus accused Mehli's companies of receiving favours from the Tata Group. The Supreme Court dismissed this allegation. Ratan is likely to listen to Mehli's advice.

Two friends, a civil servant and an entrepreneur, are part of Ratan's coterie. Vijay Singh, the former defence secretary, and Venu Srinivasan, who owns the TVS Group, are designated as vice-chairman of the two main Tata Trusts and several allied ones. Both are directors in Tata Sons. In 2021–22, Venu Srinivasan held membership in crucial groups in the parent holding company, which included Group Risk Management Committee, Audit Committee, and Nomination and Remuneration Committee.

After the Tata-Mistry public spat, Ratan wishes to part-professionalise the group and trusts. In 2020, he appointed Srinath Narasimhan as Tata Trusts' first CEO. Srinath retired on October 30, 2022. Recent reports suggest that the shortlist of possible names includes Siddharth Sharma, Tata Sons' group chief sustainability officer, and Sukaran Singh, CEO, Tata Advanced Systems. Ratan, adds one of the reports, will take the final call. Given the decoupling between Tata Sons and the trusts, N Chandrasekaran, Executive Chairman, Tata Sons, will not get the Tata Trusts' chairmanship unless he exits the parent company.

But what happens when he is gone from the group? Will Tata Sons' new chairman be a family man, who doesn't control the trusts, or a rank professional outsider? After Ratan, who will be Tata Trusts' chairman?

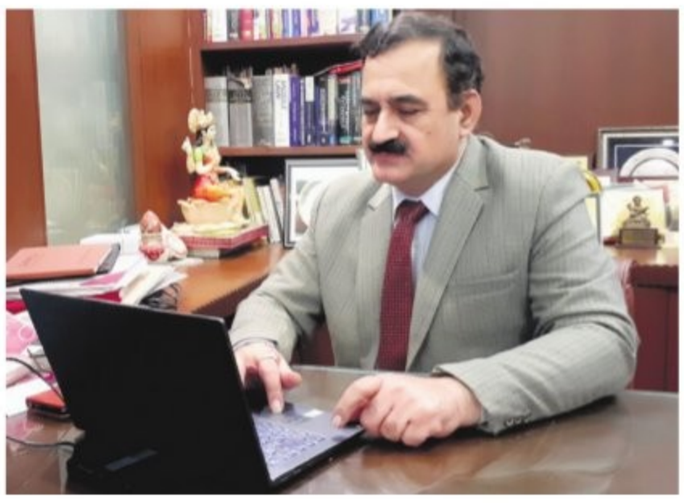
'India needs a dedicated cyber security law'

In absence of strong legislation, there is deluge of cybercrimes, but there is a famine of conviction, says Pawan Duggal

India is under threat and is totally unprepared to meet the cyber security challenges in the era of rapid digitisation, with a company or an organisation or an individual being attacked every 11 seconds. While there is no bill that takes care of cyber issues, the current legislations are inadequate to deal with the cyber security, data protection, data privacy and cyber crimes. Supreme Court advocate and an eminent expert on cyber law Pavan Duggal in discussion Amit Mukherjee throws light on various contours of cyber security.
Excerpts:



As India is moving towards large scale digitisation, what are the challenges ahead?
Thanks to the initiatives taken by the government to make life easy in terms of payments and other services moving ahead, there are immense amounts of challenges and the biggest of them is cyber security. Today, Indian systems are being targeted and hacked like nobody's business. The recent ransomware attack on AIIMS is a classical example of this. Similarly, the all-India ransomware attack in March 2022 was an alarm to show us where we stand. Post COVID-19, the world has entered a new cyber age. In fact, the golden age of cybercrime has also begun with COVID-19 and India has suddenly seen the proliferation of the Jamtara model of cyber crimes that have mushroomed into a cottage industry. Unfortunately, there is no legal framework to counter this proliferation.

Verbatim

How effective are the existing Indian laws to curb cyber threats and frauds?
The Indian Information Act 2000, the only act in place today, is not effective at all. The Act was enforced two decades back and it was aimed at enabling ecommerce in the IT sector. It granted legality to electronic format and was not enough to drive the digital India Initiative into the future. Even though there amendments were made in 2008, it was a mistake to make all cybercrimes bailable offences. As a result, while the crimes kept increasing, there was a famine of conviction because offenders on bail manage to manipulate and destroy evidence.
The IT law today is crying for amendments. In fact, India today lacks the legal framework to foment a healthy digital nation ecosystem. There is no law to deal with issues pertaining to social media, Artificial Intelligence, blockchain and the many other internet-related things. But with appropriate amendments, the law can be made potent!

Are we armed to tackle the emerging threats of the cyber age?
India is not at all secure and unprepared to meet the digitisation-based cyber security challenges. We must acknowledge that every 11 seconds, a company, an organisation or an individual is becoming a victim of a ransomware attack, In fact, the AIIMS attack is one of the biggest cyber assaults on India targeted at the Indian health ecosystem. We will see a steep rise in such attacks and unfortunately we don't have a legal framework yet to deal with ransomware assaults. The IT act is silent on it and India does not have a dedicated law on cybersecurity. There is an immediate requirement of appropriate readiness models and mechanisms to deal with such attacks.

> We will see a steep rise in such attacks (ransomeware attack on AIIMS) and unfortunately we don't have a legal framework yet to deal with ransomware assaults. The IT act is silent on it and India does not have a dedicated law on cybersecurity.
>
> Pavan Duggal, Cyber law expert

Under the current scenario, how do you see threat taking shape?
Cyber security is the biggest challenge that India is currently facing. All networks — from Mumbai grid, Kudankulam Nuclear Power Station, government websites or corporates and even individuals — are under attack. But we do not have legal frameworks to deal with such vulnerabilities. India lacks a dedicated cyber security law. Countries like China, Vietnam, Singapore, Australia have dedicated laws which are helping them to deal with cyber security challenges.

Will the Digital Personal Data protection Bill 2022 take care of the situation?
Well, though the draft is coming up for comments and discussion, it's a laid-back process. Primarily, it is not dealing with the complex issue of data protection in a holistic manner. The said legislation has been drafted in a siloed approach. No Data Protection is complete or possible without appropriately addressing cyber security. The bill is silent on data security. Besides, it's one step forward, three steps backwards as it's coming up with challenges and is in conflict with the mother bill — the Indian IT Act 2000, The bill entirely negates the concept of data localisation. If this bill is passed in the current form, it will have a huge detrimental impact upon not just the cyber sovereignty but also on the security and integrity of India.

Akhilesh joins call for Oppn front to take on BJP in '24

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A day after Bihar Chief Minister revoked talks about consolidation of the opposition parties to fight the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, Samajwadi Party (SP) President Akhilesh Yadav also jumped into the bandwagon signaling the possibility of parties burying the hatchet to put up a united face.
"A continuous exercise is underway to form an alternative for 2024. Nitishji, Mamataji and KCR sahab are working for it. An alternative is needed with inflation at its peak," said Yadav. While the chorus of opposition unity has gained momentum, it is no secret that Nitish Kumar, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee and Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekhar Rao (KCR) are aspirants for the Prime Minister post in the event of defeating BJP in the next general election. During a conference of his party on Sunday, Nitish Kumar dismissed the possibility of a third front in 2024 and said that there will be a 'main front to fight the BJP at the national level. He was referring to the efforts of Mamata Banerjee and KCR in the past to forge a third front minus the Congress against BJP.

The posturing of JD (U) and SP leaders are significant in the wake of the recent Assembly by-poll election results, say analysts. While BJP secured a record breaking win in Gujarat, it lost Himachal Pradesh to the Congress. Out of the six by polls held in five states, BJP and the Congress won two seats each while one each went to BJD and RLD. Analysts say that the opposition parties are getting its act together before it is too late.

Ever since JD (U) supremo Nitish Kumar walked out of alliance with the BJP in Bihar, he has been at the forefront of bringing disparate parties together to put up a united front against the BJP.

The renewed talks of Opposition Unity also comes in the backdrop of leaders from TMC and AAP attending a meeting of the Opposition parties ahead of Parliament session.

I&B ministry blocks Pak-based OTT for anti-India TV series

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE ministry of information and broadcasting (I&B) on Monday issued directions for blocking a Pakistan-based OTT platform's website, two mobile applications, four social media accounts and smart TV app, saying a series being shown by it was detrimental to India's national security and integrity.
The platform Vidly TV had released a web series titled "Sevak: The Confessions" on the anniversary of the 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks and was found to be detrimental to the national security, sovereignty and integrity of India.
Three episodes of the web series have been released till date, it said. This is for the first time; the ministry has blocked OTT platform service based in Pakistan. It has been issuing directions to block social media handles and youtube channels, which would run an anti-India agenda and spread fake news.
"Action against Pakistan-based Vidly TV follows the assessment that the provocative and wholly untrue web-series "Sevak" was sponsored by Pakistan's info ops apparatus. First (of 3) episode was released on 26.11.2022, anniversary of Pakistani terror attacks on Mumbai in 2008," senior adviser at the ministry Kanchan Gupta said on Twitter.
The web-series portrayed an anti-India narrative on sensitive historical events and subjects of national importance such as Operation Blue Star and its aftermath, demolition of the Babri Masjid at Ayodhya, killing of a Christian missionary named Graham Staines, Malegaon blasts, Samjhauta Express blasts and inter-state river water dispute related to Sutlej Yamuna Link canal.
"The web-series portrayed an anti-India narrative on sensitive historical events and subjects of national importance... Promoting hatred in the people against the Government of India: The series contains several dialogues such as passing of wounds by the Sikh people to their next generations in the context of Operation Blue Star," said the ministry.

Sushil Modi seeks phasing out of ₹2,000 bank notes

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Rajya Sabha witnessed an unusual demand on Monday by none else than a BJP MP. BJP MP and former finance minister of Bihar Sushil Kumar Modi urged the Centre through the Chair to phase out the currency of ₹2,000 denomination. Raising the issue citizens holding such banknotes should be given two years to deposit it.
Raising the issue through a zero-hour mention, Modi said that the currencies of ₹2,000 denomination have almost became invisible and vanished from markets and the most ATMs in the country. He said suspected that the currencies of ₹2000 denomination might be being illegally hoarded and used in illegal trades such as that drugs, and money laundering and others. He also expressed dismay over ₹2000 currency not being seen used for normal transaction. "There is a need for phasing out the ₹ 2000 currency note in a gradual manner giving an adequate time of a year to the people to deposit their legitimate holdings into smaller denomination currency notes," Modi said, adding that no logic of bringing a ₹2000 currency note was seen when the currency of ₹1,000 denomination was out of circulation.
He said that while the ₹2000 note was introduced by RBI to replace the demonetised ₹500 and ₹1000 notes at a faster pace in 2016, their printing has stopped in the last thre years owing to several challenges associated with the circulation."
Citing examples of some developed countries, which don't have the currency of higher denomination; Modi said that the $100 is the highest denomination while 100 Yuan in China. CAD in Canada and 200 Euros in European Union are of the highest denomination.
He, citing as an example in support of his demand, said that the EU discontinued 5000 Eros note in 2018 and Singapore stopped issuing $10,000 notes in 2010 to curb illegal activities of drug trafficking, money laundering, terror funding and tax evasion. "Since India is also becoming a hub for digital transactions which also entail settlements of larger amounts, there is limited need for having a high-denomination currency of ₹2000," he categorically stated while urging to phase it out.

Shortage of teachers in IITs & IIMs, govt tells Lok Sabha

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

AS many as 4,502 faculty posts are lying vacant in the prestigious Indian Institutes of Technology (IITs), the Centre told the Lok Sabha on Monday.
In a written reply, Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said 493 teaching positions need to be filled in the Indian Institute of Management (IIMs) out of the sanctioned strength of 1,566. He said out of the 18,956 sanctioned teaching posts in 45 central universities, 12,776 seats are filled up, and 6,180 posts are vacant as on December 1, 2022.
According to data shared by the minister, out of the 6180 posts lying vacant in the central universities, 1,529 positions are of professors, 2,304 of associate professors and 2,347of assistant professors. Of the total vacant positions in the central universities, 908 jobs — in the three categories of professor, associate professors and assistant professors — of Scheduled Castes need to be filled out of the sanctioned posts of 2284.
Similarly, 544 positions of Scheduled Tribes need to be filled in the three categories out of the sanctioned posts of 1142.

POWER CORRIDOR

DON'T REFER TO CASTE: BIRLA TO MEMBERS

Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla on Monday issued a warning for the members against referring to anyone's caste and religion in the House and asked them to face action if they fail to adhere to it. It all started after Congress MP A R Reddy alleged that Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman made certain remarks about his proficiency in Hindi because he belonged sto a lower caste. However, Reddy's reference to his own social category during the Question Hour did not go down well with the Speaker. Birla pointed out that people have not elected the members to Lok Sabha on the basis of their caste and religion. "Anyone here should never use such words in the House. Otherwise, I will have to take action against such a member," the Speaker warned.

'GANDHI IMAGE TO STAY ON CURRENCY NOTES'

The government said that it has no plans to remove or replace the image of Mahatma Gandhi from currency notes. Replying to a query in the Lok Sabha, Minister of State for Finance Pankaj Chaudhary said that the RBI has already given clarification. The question was raised by Congress MP Anto Antony from Kerala. In the run up to the Gujarat Assembly elections, Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal sparked a row by his appeal to Prime Minister Modi to print images of Hindu deities on currency notes. Kejriwal argued that the images of Goddess Lakshmi and Lord Ganesh are symbols of prosperity and the images will help the economy of the country. Kejriwals' proposition has invited scathing criticism from both the ruling BJP and the Opposition Congress.

RS PASSES ENERGY CONSERVATION BILL

The Rajya Sabha on Monday passed the Energy Conservation (Amendment) Bill, 2022 which seeks to empower the central government to specify a carbon credit trading scheme. The Lok Sabha has already passed the bill. Some Opposition MPs have raised objections and demanded that the bill should be sent to a House panel for review. They felt that there is ambiguity about carbon trading and the definition of it. Some members also said that states were not involved in the discussions. The bill, which seeks amendment to the Energy Conservation Act, 2001, seeks to introduce the use of non-fossil sources, including green hydrogen, green ammonia, biomass and ethanol for energy needs.

SC to hold 'in-chamber' hearing on Bilkis plea today

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court will consider today Bilkis Bano's plea seeking review of its order by which it had directed Gujarat government to consider releasing one of the convicts based on state's 1992 remission policy. Bilkis was gang-raped by the convicts during the Godhra riots in Gujarat when she was 20 years and five months pregnant & the 1992 policy did not prohibit the remission of rape, gang rape or murder convicts.

Bano's review plea will be heard in chambers by the bench of Justices Ajay Rastogi and Vikram Nath. Apart from the review, Bilkis had also challenged the release of 11 convicts who walked free on August 15, 2022 when the country was celebrating 76th Independence Day which will also be heard by the bench of Justices Ajay Rastogi and Bela M Trivedi in open court.
On Monday, CJI DY Chandrachud led bench had agreed to consider early listing of her plea. "Review plea will come up. It's a review it'll come up before the bench but by circulation. I'll have it placed early," the CJI had said.
The order against which Bilkis has sought review was delivered by the bench of Justices Ajay Rastogi and Vikram Nath on May 13 while hearing a plea by one of the convicts Radhey Shyam.
It has been argued in the review petition that Bilkis who is the victim was not even made a party in one of the convicts, RadheyShyam's plea before the SC. With regards to delay in filing the review petition, the plea says, "took enormous efforts and time for the present review petitioner- victim of one of the most gruesome and inhuman communal hate crime this country has ever witnessed, to collect courage and regroup herself to decide to hold the baton once again, after just getting over with the extremely excruciating 17 years long drawn legal battle in ensuring that her culprits are punished for the egregious crime they had committed."

Notice issued in plea on ED chief's tenure

The SC issued notice in a plea by Congress MP Jaya Thakur challenging the third extension granted to ED's director Sanjay Kumar Mishra. It has been argued in the plea that the extension order is contrary to verdict dated September 8, 2021 passed in a plea filed by common cause wherein a bench had directed for not extending Mishra's tenure further.

Justice Dipankar Datta sworn in as SC judge

Justice Dipankar Datta on Monday took oath as the SC judge which was administered by CJI DY Chandrachud. His elevation which was recommended by the SC collegium headed by former CJI UU Lalit on September 26 was notified by the Central Government on Sunday almost after three months. With his appointment SC will have 28 judges out of the total sanctioned strength of 34.

Conversion: Lawyer asked to use moderation

A SC bench hearing a petition against forced religious conversions on Monday asked the petitioner's lawyer to consider moderating the averments made in the plea, after a senior advocate said "serious and vexatious" allegations have been made about followers of some religions that they were "perpetuating rape and murder".

Jaishankar to chair 2 high-level NY events

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar will preside over two high-level ministerial signature events of India's ongoing Presidency of the UN Security Council (December 14,15) in New York.
The high-level ministerial open debate on December 14 is on "New Orientation for Reformed Multilateralism" and the briefing on December 15th is on "Global Approach to Counter-terrorism Challenges and Way Forward". Both these have been key priorities for India during its present tenure of Presidency of UNSC.
The primary focus of the Open Debate on Reformed Multilateralism is to encourage all member states to seriously address the pressing need for reforms in the global governance multilateral architecture, including the long-standing reforms of the UNSC. The meeting will also witness briefings by Secretary General of the UN and the President of the 77th UN General Assembly.
Separately, the high-level Briefing on Counter Terrorism will seek to promote consensus amongst Council Members on the broad principles of a global counter-terror architecture with an aim to further build upon the Delhi Declaration adopted during the Special Meeting of the Counter-Terrorism Committee in Mumbai and New Delhi.

Himachal CM to bring in transparency act soon

Once implemented, elected representatives will have to disclose their sources of income and assets, says Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

A day after being sworn in as the chief minister of Himachal Pradesh, Congress leader Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu on Monday said the transparency act will be brought in the state soon, for which a blue print will be prepared. The act will see the elected representatives having to disclose their sources of income and assets every year.

Assuming charge at the secretariat in Simla on Monday, accompanied by Deputy CM Mukesh Agnihotri, Sukhu said, "We will bring in the transparency act so that MLAs and other elected representatives disclose their assets annually, besides revealing the source of their income. The blueprint of the act will be prepared so that people get a corruption-free administration."

Sukhu added that as soon as the state Cabinet is formed, all the guarantees promised to the people before the elections will be fulfilled in the first meeting itself, as directed by Rajya Sabha MP and AICC in-charge of the state, Rajeev Shukla. "But we first need to understand the entire situation so that we can take decisions in accordance with the ground realities," the CM said.

When asked about the formation of the Cabinet, Sukhu said it will happen the moment the party high command gives the go-ahead. The Cabinet will be a blend of experience and youth, and will comprise professionals and people from all regions so that everyone gets due representation. Sukhu dismissed talks of differences within the party over government formation, saying that there will be perfect coordination between the government and the party. State Congress president Pratibha Singh will soon hold consultations with all the MLAs, he added.

Sukhu also presided over the Congress Legislative Party meeting, after which he said that it was decided that all the MLAs and their family members would have to pay the same room tariff in Himachal Bhawan and other state guest houses as is being charged from the general public. He also promised to give top priority to redressal of public grievances.

Sukhu also brought attention to the restoration of foundation stone plaque of Atal Tunnel, Rohtang, which was laid by Sonia Gandhi when she was the chairperson of National Advisory Council on June 28, 2010. Calling the missing plaque an insult to democracy, Sukhu said it must be restored at the earliest.

New faces in Mann cabinet likely soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

WITH the Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh Assembly elections over, the Punjab government cabinet might see a reshuffle soon. Led by CM Bhagwant Mann, the cabinet will likely drop two to three sitting ministers and new faces brought in along with a change in portfolios of others.

The ones who are likely to be dropped are Food Processing and Horticulture Minister Fauja Singh Sarari who was allegedly caught on audio devising an extortion plan with his aide, Revenue Minister Brahm Shankar Jimpa and Punjab Transport Minister Laljit Singh Bhullar due to their 'performance'.

The new faces who might make it to the cabinet are Gurmeet Singh Khuddian, Lambi, who defeated SAD patron and five-time former CM Parkash Singh Badal, Jagdeep Kamboj, Jalalabad, who defeated Shiromani Akali Dal president Sukhir Singh Badal.

Meanwhile, MLA from Talwandi Sabo Baljinder Kaur will soon get a rank of cabinet minister in her capacity as the chief whip of the ruling party in the state assembly. A decision to this effect was taken at a cabinet meeting on Monday.

Uma kin & Scindia loyalist face exit from MP Assembly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

Rahul Singh Lodhi

Jajpal Singh Jajji

THE ruling BJP has suffered twin jolts within five days, as two of its legislators, including ex-Chief Minister Uma Bharti's nephew Rahul Singh Lodhi and Union minister Jyotiraditya Scindia-loyalist Jajpal Singh Jajji, are likely to lose their Vidhan Sabha membership, following orders from the Madhya Pradesh High Court.

The principal bench of the MP High Court in Jabalpur, had on December 7, set aside the 2018 election of Khargapur (Tikamgarh) MLA Rahul Singh Lodhi over improper filing of nomination papers. On the other hand, the High Court's Gwalior bench on Monday ordered the quashing and confiscation of the 'Nat' Scheduled Caste (SC) status of Ashok Nagar (SC) legislator Jajpal Singh Jajji with immediate effect leading to his disqualification as MLA from a seat reserved for SC candidates.

While hearing the writ petition filed by Er Ladduram Kori (the BJP candidate who lost to the-then Congress candidate Jajpal Singh Jajji in the 2018 polls) in 2020, the single judge HC bench headed by Justice GS Ahluwalia directed Ashok Nagar district police superintendent to lodge an FIR against the BJP MLA. Jajji fought and won the two polls - the 2018 Assembly polls on a Congress ticket and the 2020 by-election on a BJP ticket - from the same seat using the now-quashed SC status certificate. Senior counsel Sangam Jain (who represented petitioner Ladduram Kori) said, "The HC has quashed the SC certificate, thereby not considering the sitting MLA to be from a Scheduled caste. The HC has also asked the court's registry to send a copy of the order to the MP Vidhan Sabha Speaker for further action."

A fine of Rs 50,000 has also been imposed on the MLA which is to be deposited before the court's registry within a month, he added. Jajji was among the 22 Scindia-loyalist Congress MLAs, who scripted the fall of the 15-month-old Congress government led by Kamal Nath in March 2020.

CSM's last efforts for zoo animals' return

The Guwahati-based Chiriyakhana Suraksha Mancha and others gave 15 days' time to the authorities to bring back all animals of Guwahati Zoo, relocated to private-owned zoo in Jamnagar, Gujarat. It was unanimously decided that the ongoing agitation would be intensified if the animals are not brought back within the deadline. Street plays, street meetings and 'padayatras' would be organized to mobilise public opinions against the relocation of zoo animals. The Mancha claimed two rhino calves, nine monkeys and deer were relocated to Jamnagar Zoo, however, the authorities said only two rhinos had been relocated.

AASU president quits, likely to join BJP

Following the footsteps of former All Assam Students' Union (AASU) leaders, Dipanka Kumar Nath, resigned as the president of the organisation. Former chief ministers Prafulla Kumar Mahanta and Sarbananda Sonowal are among the politicians who were earlier in the AASU. Nath, who will get married on December 15, said he has resigned on personal grounds. However, given his praise of Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma, there are rumours of him joining the BJP. Nath said Sarma has a fair knowledge about the issues facing the state. State BJP chief Bhabesh Kalita said they had not received any feelers from Nath.

CM dines with villagers, gives tips to students

Village women could not hide their excitement when CM Himanta Biswa Sarma dined with them out in the open. The CM was in Golaghat district for official events, when he was invited by the villagers for dinner. Sarma posed for selfies with the villagers. Lovingly called "mama" by the youth, he was swarmed with students when he visited a college. On being asked by a girl student to share tips on becoming a successful debater as he was an excellent one himself, he said fearlessness, content and presentation are three of the qualities. He advised them to listen to memorable speeches online.

Cong leader booked for 'kill Modi' remark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

POLITICS IN Madhya Pradesh is on the boil over a viral video in which ex-CM Digvijaya Singh's loyalist Congress leader and former minister Raja Pateriya is seen telling party workers to be ready to "murder" PM Modi by defeating him.

While the Congress has distanced itself from the former minister's statements, he and his party have come under sharp attack from many senior BJP leaders.

Meanwhile, just a few hours after being directed by the state home minister, Panna district police lodged a case under various IPC sections against Pateriya on the complaint of a state PWD sub-engineer.

In the 30-second viral video, Pateriya is seen telling the party workers, "Modi will finish elections, Modi will create divisions on the basis of religion, caste and language and the future life of Dalits, tribes and minorities is in danger. If Constitution is to be saved then be ready to murder Modi, in the sense by defeating Modi."

Lakhimpur case: SC asks trial court how long will Mishra be kept in jail?

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday directed the lower court considering the trial of Ashish Mishra, accused in the Lakhimpur Kheri violence and killings case, to apprise the SC of the time required to conclude the trial. Saying that Mishra was in jail pursuant to his bail being cancelled by the SC in April, a bench of Justices Surya Kant and Krishna Murari said, "How long will he be in jail? Victims have a right, accused have rights and even society has interests. How can we balance all these interests?"

While hearing the bail plea of Mishra, son of Union Minister of State for Home Ajay Mishra Teni, the bench also directed for continuation of the protection granted to the witnesses till the completion of the trial. Mishra and 13 others are accused in the Tikunia violence case in which eight persons — four farmers, three BJP workers and a local scribe — died on October 3 last year. Mishra is the main accused in the case as the farmers were trampled allegedly by his SUV while they were protesting against the visit of Deputy CM Keshav Maurya in the wake of the three farm laws which the Union government scrapped later. The bench also asked the additional district and sessions judge hearing the second case, related to the killing of the occupants of the car, to consider the desirability of framing charges. Mishra had approached the SC against Allahabad HC's order of refusing him bail. He had contended that there was no scope of him "hampering or tampering" with the witnesses or evidence as all of them were being provided security.

Senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi said Mishra wasn't present at the incident spot, and that the FIR was filed by someone who was not an eye witness. Senior advocate Garima Prasad for the state of UP said, "Injured witnesses have stated presence of him (Mishra) at the site. Trial is to commence from December 16."

Unique family ID to be implemented with consent of J&K households: Sinha

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

REJECTING concerns of the opposition parties, Jammu and Kashmir Lt Governor Manoj Sinha on Monday said the eight digit Unique Alpha Numeric Code (Family ID) will be implemented with the consent of the families in the Union Territory.

"The government has decided to implement the Unique Alpha Numeric Code (Family Identity Card) in J&K," Lt Governor Manoj Sinha said in Jammu. He said everybody has an Aadhar card and the Unique Alpha-Numeric Code will be made with the consent of families.

"It will be an eight digit code. The database will have all details of the families, which will prove beneficial for implementation of social security schemes like scholarship and old page pension, etc. The beneficiaries will not have to apply to avail benefits of schemes as they will get enrolled for the schemes automatically," Lt Governor said.

He said the Unique Alpha Numeric Code will bring transparency and save time. "It will provide benefits of the schemes to people," he added. Each family, according to Digital J&K Vision Document, will be provided with a unique alpha-numeric code called JK Family ID.

The government has decided to implement the Unique Alpha Numeric Code (Family Identity Card) in J&K. It will be an eight digit code

Manoj Sinha, J&K Lt Governer

The database would identify each and every family in J&K and would collect the basic data of the family in a digital format. All the applicable laws and regulations in respect of data protection shall be complied with in the management of data. The government decision to allot 'Unique Family ID' to each family has been criticized by the opposition parties as they have raised concern over data privacy.

"Creating 'a unique family ID' for J&K residents is emblematic of the widening trust deficit especially post 2019. Kashmiris are viewed with deep suspicion & this is another surveillance tactic to tighten the iron grip on their lives," tweeted former J&K Chief Minister and PDP president Mehbooba Mufti. National Conference Chief Spokesperson Tanvir Sadiq said the proposed issuance of unique IDs to families in J&K is not needed and the government should instead focus more on effective deliverance of existing schemes.

"Until and unless the administration does not explain the need for such an exercise when we have other ID's for exactly the same purpose, the proposed measure would only create more suspicion," he said.

Congress has also raised its concern over the move saying why does the government want to peek into everything when they already have enough data through Aadhaar and are providing benefits to people through direct bank transfer mode. BJP, however, has welcomed the move saying it will bring more transparency in implementation of social security schemes.

Imam of Jharkhand madrasa arrested for raping 8-year-old girl

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

IN yet another shocking incident from Jharkhand, an imaam (cleric) of a local madrasa in Simdega has been arrested allegedly for raping an eight-year old girl, who used to go to him regularly to take Urdu tuitions along with other children. Though, the incident took place on Sunday, but the matter came into light on Monday after the girl's family approached Kolebira Police Station to lodge an FIR in the matter.

"The imam, who was on the run, was arrested immediately after the FIR was lodged," said Simdega SP Saurabh. Further action is being taken, he added.

The girl's family members, however, alleged that the local Muslim body tried to settle the matter after it came to their notice, but the girl's parents were adamant and the FIR was filed on Monday afternoon.

According to the FIR, the girl had gone to take Urdu tuitions as usual on Sunday. After the class was over, the 43-year old imam, Aminuddin Ansari, asked other children, except the girl, to go home and raped her after taking her to his room. "The imam also threatened the girl that if she told anybody about the incident, he will kill her and also ask the 'genie,' which he has kept in a bottle, to kill her parents," stated the FIR. But the girl, after returning home, told her parents about the incident, it said.

According to the girl, similar incident had happened two months back, but due to fear she did not tell anything to her parents, it added.

The girl's parents also alleged that they first informed the local Muslim body on Sunday seeking help and it tried to settle the matter by calling an emergency meeting on Monday, but the imam escaped.

NORA FILES DEFAMATION SUIT AGAINST JACQUELINE

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

Nora Fatehi

Jacqueline Fernandez

IN a new twist to the ₹200-crore money laundering case involving conman Sukesh Chandrashekar, actor Nora Fatehi on Monday filed a criminal defamation suit against fellow actor Jacqueline Fernandez for 'unfairly dragging' her name into the infamous case.

Fatehi, a Canadian citizen with Indian roots, also arrayed 15 media organisations as accused for allegedly circulating the defamatory statements made by Fernandez.

Both Fatehi and Fernandez were questioned by the Enforcement Directorate in connection with their alleged links to the case.

"A conspiracy by the accused No. 1 (Fernandez) to ensure the financial, social, and personal downfall of the complainant was hatched, and enacted by the said action," stated the complaint filed through her lawyer before a Delhi Court.

The complaint was filed after Jacqueline, a Sri Lankan national, reportedly said that Nora received expensive gifts from Sukesh.

Refuting the claim, Fatehi said in the complaint that she has never met Sukesh in person. But she spoke to him once when his wife Leena Maria Paul made her speak to him over speakerphone at an event in Chennai. She added that she was invited to the event by Leena, who gifted her an iPhone and a Gucci bag. "No gifts were ever received by the complainant from Chandrashekhar," the complaint added.

It further said that her rivals in the film industry resorted to unfair means to tarnish her image and reputation because they were unable to compete with her on merit.

Fatehi also denied having received a luxury car from Sukesh. She said the car was given as part-payment to her brother-in-law Bobby Khan, who Sukesh had approached for directing a movie.

Hearing adjourned till December 20

A Delhi court on Monday adjourned the hearing in the ₹200 crore money laundering case against actor Jacqueline Fernandez and 'conman' Sukesh Chandrashekar till December 20. Special Judge Shailendra Malik deferred the matter after being told that Fernandez is yet to receive complete copies of the charge sheet

Bengal: Birbhum killing prime suspect found dead in CBI custody

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE prime accused in Birbhum's Bogtui massacre, in which 12 persons, including two children, were charred to death, was found dead in the CBI's custody under mysterious circumstances on Monday.

The CBI sources said that Lalan Sheikh (50) was found hanging inside the toilet adjoining to the room where he was lodged in the CBI's camp office in Rampurhat. The doctors, who examined the body, are yet to ascertain whether Lalan died by suicide.

On March 21, four houses were set ablaze in Bogtui, which was said to be a revenge of murder of local deputy chief of a Trinamool Congress-dominated gram panchayat Bhadu Sheikh. Preliminary investigation revealed the massacre was a sequel to a rivalry between two factions within the TMC over the issue of collecting money from illegal sand mining.

Lalan was arrested on December 4. The CBI was handed over the probe by the Calcutta High Court and the central agency arrested a total of 21 accused in connection with the massacre.

As the mass killing, first time since Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee assumed office in 2011, became a tool of the BJP to raise hue and cry alleging deteriorating law and order situation in the state, the Bengal CM visited the spot and directed the police to arrest the TMC's local block president Anarul Hossain. Police arrested Hossain, who was at large for days, within three hours of Mamata's instruction.

Meanwhile, the CBI has asked the NHRC to conduct an inquiry into the death of Lalan.

Attack on Kabul hotel popular with Chinese kills three

Multiple blasts and several bursts of gunfire as armed assailants target hotel catering to foreign visitors, especially businessmen from China

KABUL

AT least three people were killed when gunmen attacked a hotel popular with Chinese business people in the Afghan capital Monday, with witnesses reporting multiple blasts and several bursts of gunfire.

Smoke could be seen pouring from the multi-storey Kabul Longan Hotel as Taliban security forces rushed to the site and sealed off the neighbourhood. The Taliban claim to have improved security since storming back to power in August last year but there have been scores of bomb blasts and attacks, many claimed by the local chapter of the Islamic State group. Italian non-governmental organisation Emergency NGO, which operates a hospital just one kilometre from the blast site, said it had received 21 casualties, including three people dead on arrival.

It did not say if those dead were civilians or involved in the attack. A Kabul police spokesman said three attackers were killed and one suspect arrested, blaming the assault on "mischievous elements".

"All the guests of the hotel have been rescued and no foreigner was killed. Only two foreign guests were injured when they threw themselves from an upper storey," chief Taliban spokesman Zabiullah Mujahid added on Twitter. Video circulating on social media showed people clamouring out of windows on the lower floors of the building, with the hotel sign — in English and Chinese — clearly visible. Other video showed huge flames licking out of another section, with thick plumes of smoke. A helicopter also made several passes of the area. The hotel is popular with Chinese business visitors, who have flocked to Afghanistan since the Taliban's return in pursuit of high-risk but potentially lucrative business deals.

China, which shares a rugged 76-kilometre border with Afghanistan, has not officially recognised the Taliban government but is one of the few countries to maintain a full diplomatic presence there.

Beijing has long feared Afghanistan could become a staging point for minority Uyghur separatists in China's sensitive border region of Xinjiang. The Taliban have promised that Afghanistan would not be used as a base for militants and, in exchange, China has offered economic support and investment for Afghanistan's reconstruction.

Maintaining stability after decades of war in Afghanistan is Beijing's main consideration as it seeks to secure its borders and strategic infrastructure investments in neighbouring Pakistan, home to the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor.

Pakistan PM condemns firing by Taliban forces

Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Monday condemned the "unprovoked" firing by Afghan Taliban forces in the border area of Chaman in the restive Balochistan province that killed seven people and said that the interim government in Kabul must ensure that such incidents were not repeated in the future. Condemning the incident, Prime Minister Sharif tweeted that the interim government in Kabul must ensure that such incidents are not repeated in the future

Action plan at Delhi airport to cut congestion

Fresh measures include raising number of screening systems, cutting peak hour flights, deploying more manpower

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AS air passengers continue to face nightmare in terminal-3 of the Indira Gandhi International Airport (New Delhi), airport operator Delhi International Airport Limited (DIAL) and the aviation ministry on Monday implemented a series of action plans to reduce congestion.

The fresh measures include increasing the number of X-ray screening systems, reducing peak hour (5 am to 9 am and 4 pm to 8 pm) flight departures and deploying additional manpower. The latest action plan follows civil aviation minister Jyotiraditya Scindia's visit on Monday morning to inspect the arrangements at the Terminal. IGIA, the country's largest airport, has three terminals -- T1, T2 and T3. All international flights and some domestic services operate from T3. On an average, it handles around 1.9 lakh passengers and about 1,200 flights daily.

According to officials, at T3 domestic, additional ATRS (Automatic Tray Retrieval System) machines for baggage check will be deployed. Before the covid-19 pandemic, there were 13 ATRS machines installed on the ground. This number, which has been increased to 16 in the last few days, will be increased further to 17 soon, and subsequently to 20.

Among other steps, all airlines will be required to keep their counters completely manned, especially during peak hours. According to officials, digital display boards showing waiting time at each entry gate and at least one waiting time board at the terminal checkpoint will be put in place.

Scindia said he has given instructions to regulate the movement of passengers afresh at the gate where there is a surge in crowd, and to deploy special officers at every gate. "We have given instructions to increase the security line from 13 to 16. By the end of this month, we will try to start three new lines," the minister said. Passengers have been complaining about long waiting hours and poor management at the airport for the past many days. In a few instances, few passengers missed their flights as it took them hours to clear all the checkpoints.

The congestion has been attributed to fewer active counters, limited security staff and a surge in passenger movement in the on-going travel season. Not only Delhi's T3, but Mumbai's Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport is also facing a huge rush as the Adani Group Operated airport catered to 150, 988 passengers on 10th December, 2022, the highest single-day record this year.

BUYOUT

DALMIA TO BUY JAYPEE'S CEMENT UNIT FOR ₹5.6K CR

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DALMIA CEMENT has entered into a binding agreement to acquire the clinker, cement and power plants of debt-laden Jaiprakash Associates Limited (JAL) and its associate at an enterprise value of ₹5,666 crore.

JAL and its associate have cement capacity of 9.4 million tonnes (MT), along with clinker capacity of 6.7 MT and thermal power plants of 280MW.

These assets are situated in Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh & Chhattisgarh. The transaction is subject to due diligence, requisite approvals from lenders/JV partner of JAL and regulatory authorities.

This development comes amid growing consolidation in the cement sector with the entry of Adani Group earlier this year. In October 2022, the port-to-power conglomerate was rumored to be acquiring JAL's assets , which now is picked by Dalmia.

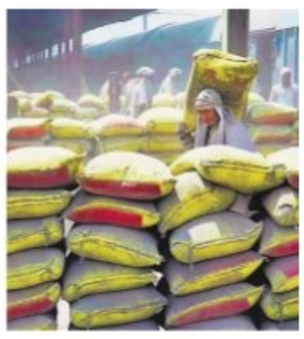
The fresh acquisition will enable Dalmia to expand its footprint in central India and emerge as a pan-India cement company with a capacity of 75 MT by FY27 and 110 - 130 MT by FY31, the cement maker said in a statement.

For JAL, whose total debt reportedly has spiraled to nearly ₹29,000 crore, the deal is likely to prevent lead banker SBI to drag the company to the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT).

Manoj Gaur, executive Chairman of JAL, said, "In order to repay the loans of lenders and concentrate in its other core areas of working, JAL has decided to divest from the cement business completely."

JAL, for years now, has been taking steps to reduce its debt and repay lenders. In this regard, it had divested more than 20 MTPA cement capacity in favour of leading player UltraTech Cement between 2014 and 2017.

This is also the second time when JAP has inked a deal with Dalmia Group as it had sold controlling stake of more than 2 MTPA cement capacity to the latter in 2015.



Buyout to help Dalmia expand footprint

This development (acquisition of JAL's assets) comes amid growing consolidation in the cement sector with the entry of Adani Group earlier this year. Fresh acquisition will enable Dalmia to expand its footprint in central India and emerge as a pan-India cement company

Net direct tax mop-up at ₹8.7L cr, up 24% till Nov

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

CONTINUING with the strong growth trends, the Centre's net direct tax collection increased 24% to ₹8.77 lakh crore in the April-November period of the current fiscal.

"Direct tax collection net of refund stands at ₹8.77 lakh crore as of November 30, which is 24.26% higher than the net collection for the corresponding period last year," the finance ministry said on Monday through a series of tweets.

The collection represents 62% of the full-year Budget Estimates (BE) of direct tax collection for 2022-23 (April-March).

The Budget estimated direct tax collection at ₹14.20 lakh crore this fiscal, higher than ₹14.10 lakh crore collected last fiscal (2021-22). Direct taxes include corporate and individual income taxes.

The ministry also informed that refunds amounting to Rs 2.15 lakh crore were issued between April 1 and November 30, which is about 67 per cent higher than the last year.

According to the finance ministry, 6.97 crore Income Tax Returns (ITR) for assessment year 2022-23 have been filed till November 30, 2022.

It also informed that about 96.5% of the returns filed till 30/11/2022 have already been e-verified. The period of verification has been reduced from 120 days to 30 days. Verification of Income Tax Return is a prerequisite for processing.

Talking about efforts taken by the government to make filing of ITRs hassle-free, the ministry said.

'Noida Airport to handle 12 mn traffic'

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

NOIDA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT (NIA), also known as Jewar Airport, will be able to handle 12 million passengers per annum by the end of 2024, according to Christoph Schnellmann, CEO of NIA.

"The airport is being developed in four phases and the first phase will cost ₹5730 crore. As of now the land has been cleared and most excavation work is over. The first phase will have a single runway and the first passenger terminal will be ready by 2024," Schnellmann told this newspaper on Monday. Tatas have bagged contract for construction of the terminal building and airport.

The airport is being developed by Yamuna International Airport Private Limited (YIAPL), a 100% subsidiary of Zurich Airport International AG, in partnership with the Uttar Pradesh and central governments. The concession period for YIAPL began on October 1, 2021, for a period of 40 years. "We have over 20 years of experience in developing airports in India. We were stakeholders in the Bengaluru airport too. We had a 17% stake, which we have diluted," Schnellmann added. NIA will connect greater Delhi area and western Uttar Pradesh with other cities in India and the world. "This airport will combine Swiss efficiency and Indian hospitality to offer rich experiences and comprehensive commercial attractions and services to its passengers." The catchment area for drawing passengers will be Delhi-NCR, western Uttar Pradesh, Noida, Greater Noida, Agra and Mathura. The design of the airport will include various elements synonymous with the region's architecture. The terminal forecourt will feature flights of steps like the famous ghats of Varanasi and Haridwar. Delivering the look and feel of a haveli, a courtyard will allow fresh air and sunlight into the terminal building. Inspired by the important rivers of the region, a white translucent wavy roof will give the effect of a flowing river. According to him, "The passenger terminal will feature intricate ornamental lattice screens, inspired by Indian architecture and will showcase a grand entry into the state of Uttar Pradesh."

Airport being developed by YIAPL

The airport is being developed by Yamuna International Airport Private Limited (YIAPL), a 100% subsidiary of Zurich Airport International AG, in close partnership with the Uttar Pradesh and central governments. The concession period for YIAPL began on October 1, 2021, for a period of 40 years

India fastest growing economy, some MPs feel jealous of this: FM

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

Despite the Covid pandemic and Russia-Ukraine war, India is the fastest growing economy in the world, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman said Monday.

Indian rupee has gained against every other currency and the US dollar is going stronger because of the policies adopted by the US Federal Reserve, even then Indian rupee is robust against the US dollar, she said.

"Currency devaluation is itself a word which can be used when it is a fixed rate exchange mechanism. Currently it is not a fixed rate mechanism," she further said while replying to a supplementary question asked by Congress member Anumula Revanth Reddy in Lok Sabha. Reddy had asked about the actions Centre has taken to contain the slide in rupee, which has hit 83 against the US dollar first time ever. Meanwhile, he also quoted Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 2013 statement, when he was Gujarat chief, about low rupee. Taking a jibe at then Finance Minister P Chidambaram, in 2013, he had tweeted, "today Rupee is in ICU, I do not know why Tamil people sent him to Delhi."

Hitting out at Congress, Sitharaman said some members of the parliament feel envy like foreign enemy countries if India performs well.

Rupee has gained against every other currency and US dollar is going stronger due to policies adopted by the US Fed, even then rupee is robust against the US dollar, FM said

Banks write off ₹8.5 lakh crore in last four years, says FinMin

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

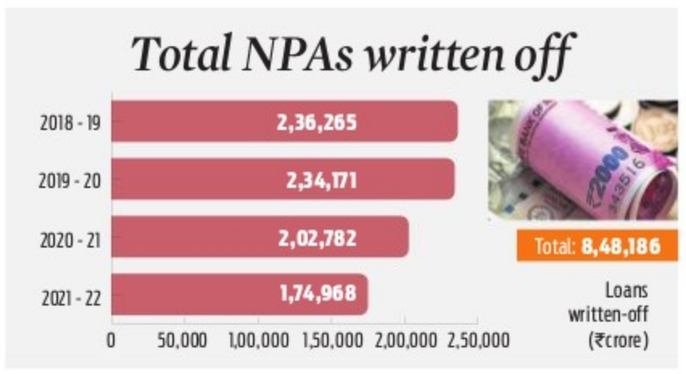
IN last four years, banks have written off ₹8.5 lakh crore, as per the data released by finance ministry on Monday.

India's largest lender the State Bank of India (SBI) wrote off ₹1.65 lakh crore, followed by Punjab National Bank (PNB) at ₹59,807 crore in this period.

Data show SBI wrote off ₹19,666 crore loans in FY22, ₹34,402 crore in FY21, ₹52,362 crore in FY20 and ₹58,905 crore in FY19. IDBI Bank wrote off total ₹33,135 crore during the last four years, with writing off ₹2,889 crore in FY 22. Among private sector banks, ICICI Bank wrote off ₹42,164 crore and HDFC Bank wrote off ₹31,516 crore loans.

Responding to a query in Lok Sabha, finance minster Nirmala Sitharaman said according to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) guidelines and policy approved by banks' Boards, NPAs or non-performing assets, including inter-alia those in respect of which full provisioning has been made on completion of four years are removed from the balance sheet of the bank concerned by way of write-off.

Banks evaluate impact of write-offs as part of their regular exercise to clean up their balance-sheet, avail of tax benefit and optimise capital, in accordance with RBI guidelines and policy approved by their Boards. "The borrowers of written-off loans continue to be liable for repayment and the process of recovery of dues from the borrower in written-off loan accounts continues. Banks continue to pursue recovery actions initiated in written-off accounts through various recovery mechanisms available," the FM said.



WRITE-OFFS DONE 4-YR AFTER PROVISIONING

FM Nirmala Sitharaman said as per the RBI guidelines and policy approved by banks' Boards, NPAs including inter-alia those in respect of which full provisioning has been made on completion of four years are removed from the balance sheet of the bank concerned by way of write-off

Cut TDS on crypto from 1% to 0.01%: Industry

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE introduction of 1% Tax deducted at source (TDS) has adversely affected the Indian crypto industry, say experts.

Start-up body IndiaTech.org has recommended that the rate of TDS be deducted from 1% to 0.01% through an amendment to Section 194S in the upcoming Budget.

Since July 1 transfer of virtual digital assets (VDAs) such as cryptos have been attracting 1% TDS under section 194S of the Income tax Act.

Rameesh Kailasam, CEO of IndiaTech.org, said the 1% TDS is negatively impacting the Indian start-ups and benefitting overseas transactions.

In its recommendation, IndiaTech.org said, "Currently TDS under Section 194S there is a high rate of TDS with ambiguity on the inclusion of foreign exchanges under the scope of the TDS mandate and a Low threshold limit. This has led to a level playing field issue and flight of business out of India."

The share of foreign overseas exchanges (domiciled outside India) app downloads as a percentage of overall VDA trading app downloads in India between July to September 2022 was 40%, a 350% increase if compared with a similar time period from the start of the year, it said.

Based on P2P data, it is estimated that Indian users contributed about ₹80,000 crore to volumes on foreign VDA exchanges over a period of four months since July, it added.

Kailasam said as the primary intention is to track, we are recommending the rate of TDS to be deducted from 1% to 0.01%. "This will ensure tracking and tracing. The low rate will encourage Indian investors to continue engagement on Indian platforms, instead of migrating to foreign exchanges and untraceable P2P transactions," he added.

Mohammed Roshan, co-founder & CEO of GoSats, said the data clearly shows this (1% TDS) has led to a drastic drop in exchange volumes and revenue, directly correlating to the negative sentiments among crypto investors. "In the backdrop of negative macroeconomic conditions and the present crypto market downturn, reducing taxes and winning back customers is a matter of survival for exchanges and others in the industry."

Share of overseas exchanges' app downloads rise

Share of foreign overseas exchanges (domiciled outside India) app downloads as a percentage of overall VDA trading app downloads in India between July-September was 40%, a 350% rise if compared with a similar time period from the start of the year, IndiaTech.org said

Tata Motors to take IPO route to divest stake in Tata Technologies

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HOME-GOWN auto major Tata Motors' board has given approval for partial divestment of company's stake in Tata Technologies through the initial public offering (IPO) route.

Tata Technologies is a global product engineering and digital services company.

"We wish to inform you that the IPO Committee [duly constituted by the Board of Directors of Tata Motors Limited], at its meeting held today, i.e., on December 12, 2022 has accorded its in-principle approval to explore the possibility of partial divestment of the company's investment in Tata Technologies Limited, through an IPO route at an opportune time, subject to market conditions, applicable approvals, regulatory clearances," said Tata Motors on Monday in a stock exchange filing.

Tata Motor's added that it will make further announcements of all material developments relating to IPO, as and when required.

If Tata Technologies gets all the green lights, it would become the first IPO from Tata Group in 18 years. It would be also the first under the current Group chairman N Chandrasekaran who took over in January 2017. IT major TCS was the last Tata company to go public in 2004. Another Tata Group company, Tata Play, is also gearing up for an IPO. Tata Motors held a 74.43% stake in Tata Technologies as of March 31.

Qatar FIFA WORLD CUP FINALS 2022

DO OR DIE

FASCINATING MATCH-UP

THE LOSING FINALISTS OF THE LAST TWO EDITIONS FACE EACH OTHER IN THE SEMIFINALS IN WHAT PROMISES TO BE AN INTRIGUING MATCH-UP. A LOOK...

ARGENTINA

A team totally driven by emotion right now. It's helped them bond together but it could also be fragile when things are not going their way. On the field, Lionel Messi has papered over some significant cracks. Manager Lionel Scaloni has also helped the team by bringing in both Enzo Fernandez and Julian Alvarez. Both of them will be needed on Tuesday.

CROATIA

They are the ultimate tournament team these days. They know what to do and do just that, even if people expect them to bow out. They have led in only one match and have had to equalise in both of their knockout games this far. It's a team that's totally devoid of emotion, because they are almost robot like in their planning and execution.

GVARDIOL VS MESSI

The principal battle. The capital clash. The best defender at this World Cup against one of the best attackers. Messi will not start at centre-forward but he will drift and the space he will most likely occupy when Argentina are in the attacking third is the right half space where Gvardiol will be. Strap on to your seatbelts.

Against Brazil, Josip Juranovic caught the eye. Not just for his defending but for his energy on the right wing. He kept bombing down that side and was a willing outlet. He will look to do the same against a side that isn't the most mobile while defending quick transitions. If Croatia want to up the pace, watch this space.

MODRIC VS DE PAUL

Luka Modric is fine wine but only better. The man has continued to run games at this World Cup, slowing it down to a heartbeat of a resting person. It's what he does. Play at a tempo that suits him. Rodrigo de Paul will try and alter that, he may not shadow him but he will go look to press him, go hard at him whenever the opportunity presents itself.

In theory they are available and so we are relaxed about that. We need to see how many minutes they can play, but we will see later today and we also have time tomorrow to decide.

— Argentina coach Lionel Scaloni on Rodrigo De Paul & Angel Di Maria

QUICK PASSES

New Spain coach defends step up

MADRID: New Spain coach Luis de la Fuente defended his appointment after criticism he lacked experience. "I was a professional player for 15 years," he said. "I won titles, I was an international (at youth level) apart from with the national team. "I have (coached) 16 players who were in the Spain squad at the World Cup. "If there is anyone in Spain who knows the present and the future of Spanish football, it's me."

'Pele's health improving'

SAO PAULO: Brazilian football legend Pele's health continues improving, but no date has been set for his release from hospital, where he was admitted nearly two weeks ago, doctors said Monday. "There is no date set for his release, (but) the patient's clinical condition continues improving, especially the respiratory infection," the hospital said. "He remains in a standard room, conscious and with stable vital signs."

MATTER OF FACT

4 Croatia were runners-up in the 2018 edition and have the chance to become the fourth nation from Europe to reach consecutive WC finals after Italy (1934-38), Netherlands (1974-78) and Germany (1982-86-90).

3 This will be third meeting between the two sides in the World Cup and first in the knockout stages. Argentina won 1-0 in 1998 before Croatia's 3-0 win in the last edition in Russia.

HEART & SOUL OF ARGENTINA

After losing to Saudi Arabia, Messi & Co have relied primarily on emotion to take them through to last four

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

Croatia players on the eve of their semifinal tie against Argentina | AFP

Over the last 12 years and four World Cups, Argentina men's football team have allowed emotion to take them to great highs and devastating lows. It took them to a final in 2014. In 2010 and 2018, it wrecked them to a point where it almost finished two of its greatest athletes of all time (Diego Maradona and Lionel Messi). In 2021, it showed the possibilities when they won the Copa America, their first senior football title in 28 years. It was why watching Argentina in tournaments remained a maddening experience for such a long time. There was a lack of tactics, planning and strategy. They were like a team that belonged in the Ted Lasso Universe. It was Vibes Football Club. Trust in Messi. Trust in God.

You saw what the Copa title meant to the players. Sergio Aguero, who featured in that final, had said 'it gave new life to Messi'. Goalkeeper Emiliano Martinez went further. "From the bottom of my heart, I am happier for him than for me," he had told El Pais. "I'm Argentinean. What Argentinean didn't want the best player in history to lift the Cup? And the whole squad understood that. When he was about to lift the Cup, we shouted to him: 'It's your day.'"

When La Albiceleste landed in Qatar, they were one of the favourites to win the title, their first since 1986. There was also a general feeling that Scaloni had rid the team of this emotion. You cannot go on a 30-match unbeaten run with just vibes. Then, their entire world came crashing down. Saudi Arabia took a hammer and demolished Argentina's facade over 60 minutes. Three years of building said facade, brick by brick, tile by tile, had been blown away in one hour of madness. It was Russia all over again. Or South Africa. Or those numerous Copa Americas the team had lost.

Forget the final. The task had just gotten that bit more difficult. They were now facing five finals to take part in the actual final. To be fair to them, they have won four of those five finals. On Tuesday against Croatia, they face a fifth.

The interesting bit is the route they have taken to reach this final. It's all been one emotional roller-coaster, a mentally draining journey. Watching 90 minutes of Argentina has been like living through an intense cardio-session. The wild celebrations (it was reported that the players spent an hour inside the dressing room post the Mexico win in the group stage, for instance), the self-doubts after the slightest hint of adversity (Australia having two clear-cut chances to equalise after scoring a freak goal and Netherlands actually dragging them to a shoot-out after looking like a spent force) and losing their calm when calm was what the prescription said. That even Messi has allowed himself to lose — for so long it was thought nigh on impossible to get under his skin — twice in as many games is suggestive of that.

Against Australia in the Round of 16, Aziz Behich and Messi had an altercation. It saw the former pull the latter's jersey and have an angry eyeball-to-eyeball exchange before the referee separated the pair. Messi scored the opener a few minutes later but he had been largely ineffectual till then. Since that provocation, the skipper was largely unplayable. Against the Netherlands, Messi cranked it up. He probably should have been sent off. His post-match comments and gestures were so un-Messi. He was actively goading the opposition.

That's the thing with becoming emotional. You either use it to scale unbelievable highs or allow it to destroy the team. At some level, Messi is also operating at an elite level driven by the dream of becoming a world champion, knowing full well this is likely his last dance. He has already been responsible for producing two of the standout moments of this edition. The goal against Mexico and the pass to Nahuel Molina, who was outside his periphery, for the opening goal against Netherlands. He also has the additional responsibility of satisfying the needs of a lot of everyday Argentines who have finally stopped criticising him. For a long time, Messi had become the lightning rod for the reason behind Argentina's long trophy drought. Every theory from 'he just cares for Barcelona to he doesn't sing the national anthem before games' has been put out for more than a decade.

The last few years has helped change that perception (delivering a World Cup will win over the remaining doubters). A recently released Netflix documentary, 'Sean Eternos: Campeones de America', lifted the lid on how much that title meant. One of the most poignant pieces of the documentary features Messi delivering his pre-final dressing room speech before facing Brazil in Brazil. The cliche of treating every match including the final was out of the window. Angel di Maria, in the documentary, said 'Messi lost his mind'. The speech itself was something, especially coming from a player who had portrayed himself to be an introvert.

"Forty-five days where we travelled, ate, were locked up in hotels," he says. "Forty-five days without seeing our families guys. Dibu had a daughter and even though he couldn't see her, he couldn't hold her in his arms. Chino also had a son and he only got to see him for a little while. All for what? For this moment. Because we had a goal and we are very close to achieving it. And you know what the best of all is? That this depends on us. That's why we're going to go out on the pitch, and we're going to raise the Cup. We are going to take it to Argentina to enjoy it with our family and friends and with those who have always supported us. The last thing, with this I finish, there are no coincidences guys. This Cup was going to be played in Argentina but God wanted it to be played in Brazil, so that we can win it at the Maracana and make it more beautiful for all of us. So, go out to the pitch confident and calm, we will take this Cup home."

In Qatar, this team has not been calm. Or confident. They have traded in emotion and fervour for calm and confident. That naked display of emotion will again be displayed against Croatia. It has helped them in the first four of six finals. It has made this team believe. Will it help them? Or will it be the source of destruction?

Only time will tell.

Refereeing VAR from satisfactory at times

VISHNU PRASAD

A DAY before the World Cup began in Qatar, FIFA president Gianni Infantino held a press conference where he asked for respect to be given to the referees officiating in the tournament. Three weeks later, it is safe to assume that his calls have gone unheeded.

There were a number of common threads connecting the four quarterfinals of Qatar 2022 together. Every single one of them was high on drama that lasted till the final whistle. There were memorable goals and moments of incredible skill. There were also a couple of unsavoury connections. All four of them were bound together by controversial refereeing calls and players hitting out against match officials in a way rarely seen (or allowed) on the international stage.

As Lionel Messi faced the media after a thrilling penalty shootout against the Netherlands, one might have expected him to be rather pleased that things had gone his way in the end. Instead, he directed an astonishing amount of vitriol against the referee Antonio Mateu Lahoz. "I don't want to talk about the referee because you can't be honest," Messi said, before talking about the referee and being honest. "They can't put a referee like that for these instances, they can't put a referee who isn't up to the task."

Messi's comments were not without a cause for sure. Lahoz had just dished out a record 18 yellow cards in the match, including one to Messi himself. There were moments where it appeared he was going to lose control of the game itself. A couple of days later, Messi's comments had the desired effect. FIFA announced that Lahoz would not referee another game in the tournament.

Portugal players questioned the appointment of Argentinian referee for their quarterfinal tie vs Morocco | AP

The incident highlights the two-pronged nature of the problem that stares FIFA in the face. On one hand, refereeing standards at the World Cup have left a lot to be desired. There have been a controversial incident every couple of games. The tournament itself started with people wondering why a goal by Ecuador had been ruled out against Qatar. The debate over whether the ball had gone out before the Japanese goal that knocked Germany out had to be quelled with detailed explanatory videos. England believe they went out because the refereeing wasn't in their favour. Portugal were unhappy with the decision to have an Argentinian referee for their game against Morocco, something that could have easily been avoided. VAR has only muddled already muddy waters.

On the other hand, there is the growing problem of players and coaches explicitly calling the referee's ability into question, comments that, in another era, would have resulted in at least a ban. Messi's insinuation that Lahoz was 'not up to the task' was not even the worst thing said about the latter on the day. His teammate Emiliano Martinez called him 'useless' and accused him of wanting the Netherlands to score. This is not just an Argentinean problem. Dutch midfielder Frenkie De Jong branded Lahoz scandalous.

"As soon as regulation time ended they went for him. From that moment he only whistled for Argentina. It was really scandalous," he said. More than one Portuguese player alleged that referee Facundo Tello worked against them to make the tournament easier for his home country. "We already know how it works... before the game we already knew what we were in for, and what kind of referee we would find," said midfielder Bruno Fernandes. After England lost against France, defender Harry Maguire thought that the 'decision making throughout the game was really poor'.

Once the dust settles on Qatar 2022, FIFA has four years to figure out how to avoid a repeat of this in 2026. Whether they will is a whole other question.

Croatia 'want more' on return to WC semifinals

AFP @ Doha

CROATIA coach Zlatko Dalic said the 2018 World Cup runners-up hope Tuesday's semifinal against Argentina in Qatar will be remembered as the "greatest game" in the country's history.

With a population of just four million people, Croatia have again defied the odds and stand just 90 minutes from a return trip to the final.

"At back-to-back World Cups to be among the four best national teams, that's an extraordinary success for Croatia," said Dalic, who saw his side beaten 4-2 by France in the final four years ago.

"However, we want more," he added. "I'm optimistic and have full confidence in my players. They've shown their great quality and strength of character, and deserve to be in the final."

As in Russia in 2018, Croatia have required two penalty shootouts to reach the last four — beating Japan and then a heavily fancied Brazil.

Croatia haven't won a knockout game in normal time at a major tournament since coming third at the 1998 World Cup. "It was quite exhausting with extra time in two matches, but we're in the semifinals of the World Cup and we're not even discussing exhaustion," said Dalic.

"We are still strong, with energy and enthusiasm, without a doubt. We are going to give it our all, just as we have done in previous games.

"Against Argentina we will do the same, we will give our all. We don't have any injury problems. They don't feel tired."

TCHOUAMENI SHOWS WHY HE IS REAL DEAL

GRAHAM DUNBAR @Doha

KYLIAN Mbappe is finally getting his chance to play alongside Aurelien Tchouameni with France into the World Cup semifinals and Morocco up next on Wednesday. Tchouameni's displays at the heart of the France midfield — and his impressive goal against England in the quarterfinals — have shown why Real Madrid paid 80 million euros ($84.5 million) to sign him in June.

The 22-year-old Tchouameni, who loves American culture and cites Barack Obama as an inspiration, moved to Madrid despite Mbappe tempting him to team up together at Paris Saint-Germain.

Six months ago, it was far from clear Tchouameni would be a starter for France in its bid to become the first team in 60 years to successfully defend its World Cup title. Injuries to Paul Pogba and N'Golo Kante, the midfield standouts from four years ago, opened the way to an unlikely new pairing of Tchouameni and Adrien Rabiot.

In 2018, Rabiot had exiled himself from the France team and Tchouameni was an 18-year-old prospect at Bordeaux drawing comparisons to the established stars. Tchouameni has the tall elegance of Pogba and, as he showed in France's 2-1 win over England, shooting power from distance.

He revealed back in 2018 he earned the tag "TchouaNgolo" after showing ball recovery skills matching Kante, the master of that art.

Two seasons in the first team at Bordeaux, alongside his good friend and now France teammate Jules Kounde, earned a step up in 2020 to Monaco, where Mbappe was nurtured as a teenager.

This year, Tchouameni had his choice of top European clubs. He turned down Champions League finalist Liverpool and opted for the Madrid team that won that title. AP

NUGGETS & TRIVIA

Australian footballer Archie Thompson holds the goal scoring record by scoring 13 goals in a World Cup qualifying match against American Samoa in 2001. In the same match, Australia also set the record for the highest-scoring match and largest margin of victory by scoring 31 goals.

Togo's Souleymane Mamam became the youngest player to play in a WC qualifying match. At the age of 13 he played against Zambia in 2001.

Eyes on skipper Rahul, again

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WHEN KL Rahul wore the Indian blazer and walked out for the toss for the first time in the second Test against South Africa in January, the prospects of qualifying for the final of the World Test Championship final looked promising. Back then, he was named deputy to Virat Kohli and had to step in in the middle of the series.

Cut to December and Rahul finds himself in a similar position again. This time, he will be leading India in place of Rohit Sharma, who was ruled out of the first Test against Bangladesh. Unlike in January, Rahul and India find themselves in a tricky position when it comes to qualifying for the WTC final.

A lot has changed since that Test in Johannesburg. The permanent captains, have changed, for instance. In fact, they have had four Test skippers this year (Kohli, Rahul, Rohit and Jasprit Bumrah). They have been impacted by injuries in almost every Test series — Kohli in SA, Axar Patel vs Sri Lanka, Rohit in England and Mohammed Shami and Ravindra Jadeja against Bangladesh to name a few. More than anything else, since the time Rahul led India in that Test at Johannesburg, India have lost three of the five matches they have played. And now, they have to win five of the six matches that are ahead — two against Bangladesh and four versus Australia – to be in contention. Two losses and they might be eliminated.

Which is why, at some level, the way India fairs in the first Test match that begins on Wednesday is more crucial for Rahul than the past. And he is aware of it as well. "We know where we stand and what we need to do to qualify for the final," said the Indian captain.

While Rahul himself is a stand-in captain for Rohit, Cheteshwar Pujara has made a comeback and is now a vice-captain for the first Test. The opener was candid about the appointment of his original role as vice-captain. "I don't know the criteria, whoever is picked, you give them a pat on the back and continue. Even for me when I became vice-captain, you get happy. You have the responsibility of the team, it really does not change too many things in the team," he said.

Twice in the year, Rahul has been elevated to lead the team from being a deputy. He hopes for Rohit to be fit and play the second Test. And if he does, the 30-year-old would be hoping to hand over the team back in a much better position than he did to Kohli in South Africa. For, a lot more is at stake than it was in Johannesburg.

Specialised camp for dragflickers and goalkeepers

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

HOSTS India will undergo a week-long specialised dragflick and goalkeeping camp from Wednesday at the SAI Centre in Bengaluru as part of their preparation for next month's FIH men's World Cup. The camp, to conclude on December 20, will be held under the watchful eyes of double Olympic champion from Netherlands Bram Lomans and Dennis Van De Pol. While Lomans will work with the Indian dragflickers, his countrymate Van De Pol will fine-tune the goalkeepers ahead of the World Cup to be held from January 13 to 29.

England beat Pakistan by 26 runs in 2nd Test

MULTAN: Mark Wood destroyed Pakistan hopes with his fearsome pace and led England to a 26-run victory inside four days in the second Test on Monday. Pakistan, in pursuit of a challenging target of 355, was bowled out for 328 to send England into the third match with an insurmountable 2-0 lead. Brief scores: England 281 & 275 bt Pakistan 202 & 328 in 102.1 ovs (Shakeel 94; Wood 4/65).

Divya crowned air pistol national champion

BHOPAL: Karnataka's Divya TS secured her maiden women's 10m air pistol national title, getting the better of Uttar Pradesh's Sanskriti Bana in a close gold medal match at the 65th National Shooting Championship, which concluded here on Monday. Divya beat Sanskriti 16-14 in the gold medal match and Haryana's Rhythm Sangwan claimed the bronze. Manu Bhaker won the junior women's air pistol gold.

Aryaveer wins silver in Bangkok Rapid Chess

MUMBAI: Eight-year-old Aryaveer Pittie claimed a silver medal in the under-8 category at the Bangkok Rapid Chess Championship. Aryaveer of the American School of Bombay (ASB) finished second with a creditable score of four points out of possible six at the Prasarnmit Plaza Sukhumvit on Sunday. Thailand's Suthiponpaisarn Proudpitcha won the gold with five points.

LONG GRIND AHEAD AS RANJI SEASON BEGINS

AFTER THREE YEARS THE PREMIER MULTI-DAY DOMESTIC TOURNAMENT WILL BE RETURNING TO A FULL-FLEDGED SEASON. AND THIS YEAR, THERE WILL BE TWO GROUPS, ELITE AND PLATE, AND TWO SEPARATE WINNERS. AS THE FIRST-ROUND GAMES GET UNDERWAY ON TUESDAY, A LOOK...

ELITE GROUP A

Bengal finished as semifinalists last season. This time the absence of Abhimanyu Easwaran puts them on the backfoot in the first couple of matches, and will rely heavily on skipper Manoj Tiwary. Meanwhile, Uttar Pradesh will also not have the services of their key left-arm spinner Saurabh Kumar. Himachal Pradesh, once again, will be looking up to their captain Rishi Dhawan for inspiration. With Baroda, Odisha, Nagaland, Haryana and Uttarakhand in the mix, it would be interesting to see which two teams come out on top.

ELITE GROUP B

The last season runner-ups Mumbai will start as favourites, but they have to tough it out against other heavyweights. If they have Ajinkya Rahane (and Suryakumar Yadav for the second match), Andhra will have Hanuma Vihari, Tamil Nadu see the return of Vijay Shankar, with Baba Indrajith taking the lead. Saurashtra might not have Jaydev Unadkat for the first couple of games. Delhi will have a young captain in Yash Dull with veteran pacer Ishant Sharma taking part in the tournament. Then there is Maharashtra and Assam as well. Every match promises to be a cracking contest.

ELITE GROUP C

After a poor season, Karanataka, under Mayank Agarwal, would be looking for a revamp, with the captain himself searching for good form. For Jharkhand, Ishan Kishan will be in action and Sanju Samson will be turning up for Kerala hoping to turn the tide in the domestic circuit. Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan can lit up the tournament on their day as well. Meanwhile, Pondicherry, Goa and Services would be hoping for some inspirational performances to get them through.

ELITE GROUP D

Madhya Pradesh were on a roll last season. But it was a different format. Under Chandrakant Pandit, this could be a bigger challenge for the defending champions.Jammu & Kashmir will be at their full strength with Umran Malik back from national duties. Then there is Punjab, who could put a fight as well. Chandigarh, Tripura and Railways will have to punch above their weight to make a mark in this group.

PLATE GROUP The plate group will see Bihar, Mizoram, Manipur, Arunachal, Meghalaya and Sikkim go against each other. The top four teams will play semifinals and the teams that make it to the final will advance to the Elite Group for the next season replacing the two sides that finish in the bottom across the elite groups. If Manipur and Sikkim are able to put up a performance as they did in the 2021-22 season, they have the best chance of finishing in the top two.

First-round matches

Elite Group A: Nagaland vs Uttarakhand, Bengal vs UP, Baroda vs Uttar Pradesh, Haryana vs HP

Elite Group B: Andhra vs Mumbai, Assam vs Saurashtra, Delhi vs Maharashtra, Hyderabad vs Tamil Nadu

Elite Group C: Chhattisgarh vs Pondicherry, Goa vs Rajasthan, Jharkhand vs Kerala, Karnataka vs Services

Elite Group D: Chandigarh vs Punjab, Gujarat vs Tripura, Jammu and Kashmir vs Madhya Pradesh, Railways vs Vidarbha

Plate Group: Arunachal Pradesh vs Bihar, Manipur vs Sikkim, Meghalaya vs Mizoram

DAY'S DIARY

Signing the treaty

Leaders of North and South Korea signed a treaty of reconciliation and non-aggression on this day in 1991 renouncing armed force

A MILESTONE

Lee Dong Bok, South Korea's chief spokesman at a briefing for reporters termed the agreement "a historical milestone and an evolution in inter-Korean relations"

HOPE FOR REUNIFICATION

Officials on both sides described the accord as the first step toward what they term the inevitable reunification of the Korean peninsula

HISTORY OF THE PACT

This is the first agreement between the two countries since a pact was signed in July 1972 which called for an end to hostilities

STILL FLYING HIGH

The cult classic Kamal Haasan-starrer Pushpak recently turned 35. While the iconic silent film is often citied for being well ahead of its time, it also holds a special place in the hearts of Bengalureans as it captures glimpses of the city from a time prior to the IT boom. Here are glimpses of how the city's landscape has changed since the film's original release

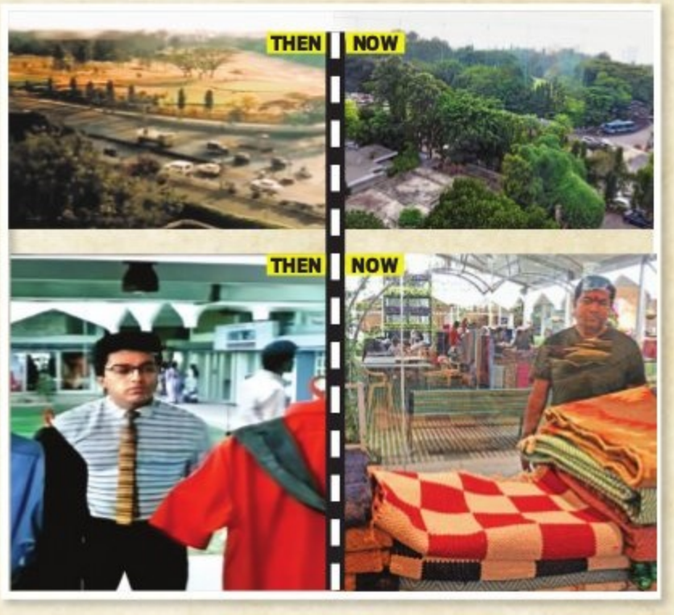
MONIKA MONALISA

MAGICIAN and illusionist KS Ramesh, recalls a call he got from Singeetam Srinivasa Rao and Kamal Haasan in 1987. The duo wanted to meet Ramesh about a project they were working on. "I almost fell off my chair. Because these guys are pretty much legends," he shares, with a laugh. That same project, Pushpak (in Hindi) recently turned 35 years old.

Ramesh plays a crucial role in the film, as a magician and father of Amal Akkineni, Haasan's love interest in the film. The 60-year-old says that his role was originally written for late actor Amrish Puri. "When I met Kamal Haasan and Singeetam Srinivasa Rao at a star hotel on MG Road, they wanted me to train the actor, the art of illusions. But I told them it is difficult for me to do, since it is a visual art. I instead suggested that Haasan could probably play the role of an illusionist's brother. I was promplty asked to leave," recalls Ramesh, adding that throughout the time he was trying hard not to stare at Haasan.

But to his luck, his suggestion was eventually accepted and he became part of the iconic film. "I got a call about a week after the initial meeting. Since I was also doing television, they considered me for a part. And the rest as they say, is history," says Ramesh, adding that he had to grow a beard for the role. The movie's success opened many opportunities for Ramesh, and he later went on to work with Amitabh Bachchan in the movie Jadugar.

History was not just made for Ramesh but also for ITC Windsor Manor, which then transformed into the iconic Pushpak hotel in the movie. Deepak Cedric Menezes, general manager of the hotel, says it was a historic moment for them as well. "Till date we have guests coming to us asking which is the room where the scenes were shot or when they walk into the lobby they sense the familiarities between the scene and the present day," says Menezes.



Internationally-acclaimed artist Raghava KK, who has invested in Under 25, will lead creative experiments for the youth collective. With CE, Raghava speaks about his involvement with youngsters, his tryst with technology, the impact of AI on the art world and more

CREATIVE DISRUPTION

DESE GOWDA

IN these times, when issues like climate change and AI are some of the biggest disruptions to our world, threatening our very existence, internationally-acclaimed artist Raghava KK, believes art has to be future facing. Which is probably one of the reasons that the artist has invested in a Bengaluru-based youth collective, Under 25. "I don't want art to be just a commodity, it has to be a way of life. So how do we achieve these are the questions we're asking the youngsters through Under 25," Raghava says about the organisation co-founded by city-based Anto Philip

Philips, who also serves as the CEO of Under 25 believes that art has been "put in a box for way too long" and that they're trying to explore alternate realities where everyone could be a participant rather than mere spectators. To which Raghava adds, "It's my job to come up with logical, organised and well documented experiments to figure out what kind of world we want to live in and how we should realise it."

Early in his career, Raghava, now 42, embraced technology, both to enhance his art and to make a wide contribution to the art world. Apart from his various disruptive digital art projects over the years -- La Petite Mort, a blockchain-based art which set a new record at the Sotheby's auction a few years ago [$94,000/₹77,40,227], Raghava also invested in various companies that have gone onto create tools used by artists around the world. The prime example would be his 1995 investment in Wacom, the go-to graphic tablet manufacturer for digital artists. Amid an increasing backlash over use of digital tools to create art, Raghava remains adamant that technology is merely a tool for artists to express themselves.

So what does he think about the skeptics who question AI-generated art infringing on digital artists' existing styles? "Disruptive technology like AI-generated art and experiments will always have sceptics just like every other invention in history. Aren't we already using styles that have already been used for hundreds of years when we use oil paints and brushes?" he questions. "The art world does not understand technology, they're only looking backwards, and operating with fear not awe. They view technology as almost a deterrent to truth through creativity. I look at it slightly differently, because I feel the consciousness of the artist meets with the friction of a tool to create a certain artefact, and technology is just another tool. Without a tool, there is no art, without a brush, or my hands or whatever else I might use," he adds.

PIC: KRISTIN PIKE

Raghava believes that the Indian art world is particularly hostile to 'forward-facing art', with art galleries in the country 'still obsessed with modernist art'. "A few years ago, I was asked to do an exhibit with technology by an Indian-based art foundation. I had organised an entire team from London, the US, and Israel to fly to India and create possibly the most disruptive piece in the country's history - a room full of artworks created by robots. At the last minute, that entire project had to be cancelled because some investors in the art world didn't think that artworks created using technology were worth being showcased," he concludes.

The lead artist at the ongoing Wall Art Festival at Alliance Française de Bangalore, Neethi speaks to CE about her art, and how the city plays a role in it

ONE WALL AT A TIME

KANISHKA KHANDELWAL

ANYTHING could be art. It is what you make of it," says Neethi, the lead artist participating in the Wall Art Festival held for the second time in the city at Alliance Française de Bangalore. The city-based artist credits its Kannada film art director Ullas Hydoor as a major influence and hopes to make an impact with her murals. Coming from a textile design background, she uses paintings and murals as an escape from reality. "I think in colour and I use my previous experiences to create new ones. The colours, history and rituals fascinates me," she says mentioning that she decided to dig in more about patterns and illustrations after completing her studies.

An interesting aspect of her design is that she often uses illusions in her art. "I like to break forms and make them look more abstract and weird. I play with scales and enjoy taking my art to the street", she adds.

Bengaluru is decorative and vibrant. There's so much to look at. There's no dearth of doing things and always room for everyone

Neethi, artist

For her, Bengaluru is the perfect place to bring her sense of expression alive. "Things here are decorative and vibrant. There's so much to look at. There's no dearth of doing things and always room for everyone. No matter where your abilities lie, you can reflect on your journey through the art," Neethi concludes.

FIT BIT

ARDHA GOMUKHASANA VARIATION

(HALF COW POSE VARIATION FORWARD BEND)

This combines half staff pose and half cow face pose at the lower body alignment. Being an asymmetrical seated pose, this not only gradually addresses the hip flexion but also strengthens the extended leg's knee, quadriceps, and hamstrings.

STEPS

- Sit in Dandasana (Staff Pose) and stay here for a couple of breaths.
- Inhale and with the hip strength, fold the right leg at the knee and place it on the left leg, which is extended.
- Now breathing steadily bring both the thighs as near to each other as possible.
- Keep your right ankle a little away from the left thigh. Placing your hands by the side of the hips, a little away from the body, align in this pose.
- Keep breathing and be conscious of keeping the spine erect.
- Inhale and bend forward from the lower back and not the mid-back. Extend the arms shoulder-width apart ahead.
- Keep your flexibility assessed and try touching either the nose or chin to the knee. Stay here for 2-3 minutes.
- Release the right knee from the lock and extend both the legs and realign to Dandasana.
- Practise this on the other side.
- Then, relax in Dandasana Hands Back Knees Bent.

BENEFITS

- Lengthens the spine with the forward bend and stretches the arms by extending them ahead.
- Stretches the hip muscles and builds stability with the hip flexors.
- Main benefit is the internal rotation of the hip flexors.
- Enhances lower back flexibility with hip mobility.
- Lumbar vertebrae open in their natural space, alleviating lower back stiffness.
- It calms and brings a grounding effect on both the body and mind.
- Helps to prepare the body and mind faster for meditative practice.
- Helps preparatory pose for many forward bend asanas.

LIMITATIONS

Those who have knee and ankle injuries, or recently undergone ankle, knee, or hip surgery, weak ankles and knee joints, bleeding piles, and pregnant women avoid this.

Knocking down the steel frame to 'iron' out character

LAST month the Supreme Court made a very significant observation while pointing out that 'enormous power has been vested on the fragile shoulder of three men, Chief Election Commissioner (CEC and two election commissioners)' and it is important that "someone of strong character" is appointed to the post. "The situation on the ground is alarming," said the apex court while stating that they would want a CEC like late TN Seshan – a legend – known for bringing key electoral reforms as the poll panel chief from 1990 to 1996. The observation made by the five-judge Constitution bench headed by Justice KM Joseph while hearing a petition seeking reforms in the system of appointing election commissioners were incisive and scathing. The exasperation of the Court was evident.

The Court's observation could be read not only as an eulogy to the late Seshan – "...there have been numerous CECs and T N Seshan happens once in a while" – who had revolutionised the electoral process in India but as a critique of the All India Services, which as if, since its inception in 1948, has not been able to churn out enough number of officers, who could stand by the oath they take on entry into these coveted services – "...bear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution of India as by law established, that I will uphold the sovereignty and integrity of India and that I will faithfully discharge the duty upon which I am about to enter."

The Supreme Court's observation regarding Seshan was with reference to the Election Commission, but he belonged to the same stock of civil servants. Before becoming the CEC, he was the secretary, Atomic Energy Commission and the joint secretary, Department of Space. The canvas of civil servants is vast and so are the opportunities before them through which they can excel in public administration and outreach.

What ails our class one services then? Why has it come to such a pass that the highest court of law had to make such a strong observation? All India Services are part of the system, to which we all attribute our failures and declining grades to. While success is largely credited to as an individual achievement and often quoted as, 'despite odds', failure and corruption have the system as the fall guy. Let us deconstruct this elusive system, which eats at the very foundation of a bureaucrat's sincere attempts in public delivery and mocks the objective of the architect of the steel frame – Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. In his fiery defence of the civil servants in the Constituent Assembly on October 10, 1949, he said, "If you want an efficient All-India Service, I advise you to allow the Services to open their mouth freely. If you are a Premier, it would be your duty to allow your Secretary, or Chief Secretary, or other Services working under you, to express their opinion without fear or favour. But I see a tendency today that in several provinces the services are set upon and told.

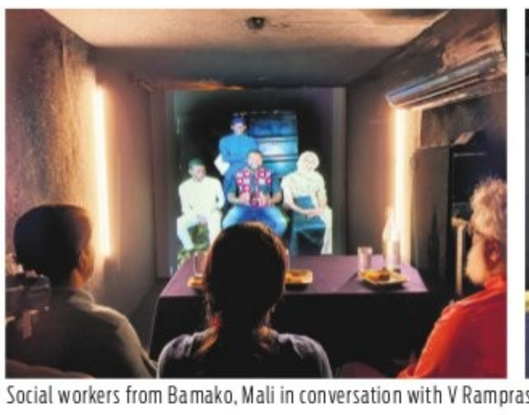
'No, you are servicemen, you must carry out our orders.' The Union will go – you will not have a united India, if you have not. A good All-India Service, which has the independence to speak out its mind, which has a sense of security that you will stand by your word and, that after all there is the Parliament, of which we can be proud, where their rights and privileges are secure," Patel had said.

Unfortunately, the iron man didn't foresee that his words would portend and resonate in the crevices of democracy seven and odd decades down independent India's history. The civil servant always had a voice but how many chose to speak out 'without fear or favour' is not the issue here. Those, who had and have the spine, the character, to deliver to their oath to the Constitution without the 'sense of security' are stories that may never be telecast on any OTT platform.

Anonymity is often a great virtue. It keeps you safe.

As part of the 'Global We' program, the Museum for United Nations - UN Live has collaborated with Science Gallery Bengaluru to open a portal in JN Planetarium in the city



Social workers from Bamako, Mali in conversation with V Ramprasad, Yashoda H M and Venkatesha G S at the UN portal

FLOWERS FOR CHANGE

TUNIR BISWAS

CONVERSATIONS have always been an essential part of human survival. One of evolutionary psychologist Robin Dunbar's most talked about theories states that a key factor, which helped our species survive the challenges of being in the middle of the food chain (back then) was their ability to gossip, enhancing language and social coherence. Now, problems are different. Humanity needs to survive its increasingly-hostile climate, and conversations are key once again.

To ensure diversity among the discussions steering climate action, starting from the United Nations Climate Change Conference (COP27), the Museum for United Nations – UN Live, has launched the 'Global We for Climate Action' or simply the 'Global We' program. They have opened 11 conversation portals across the world, hoping to establish channels and bring perspectives to leaders and accelerate the decisions to protect the planet. One of these portals is in the city after UN Live collaborated with Science Gallery Bengaluru. It was launched at the Jawaharlal Nehru Planetarium on November 8 and will be live till February 2023.

"During the pandemic, we were working on a project in collaboration with the Natural History Museum and Museum for United Nations, where we were trying to create cultural formats to spread climate awareness. That project ended prematurely but, as a result of that, the Museum for United Nations got familiar with us. So when they approached us with Global We, in tandem with COP27, we jumped at the chance," says Jahnavi Phalkey, executive director at Science Gallery Bengaluru.

During COP27, held between November 6 and 20 in Sharm El Sheikh, Egypt, Phalkey was part of three conversations. "We had drawn up a list of invitees of experts, cultural figures, environmental practitioners, researchers etc. It was fabulous. We were simultaneously in conversation with people in Sharm El Sheikh, and the energy was very high. There was a collective understanding that we needed to do something. But despite having a vague idea of it, we realised the immensity of the challenge. Because these include systems that encompass everything from politics to economics and goes against the way we have conducted life on this planet for the last 400 years. It's going to be very hard to turn it around," says Phalkey, who spoke to people from Bamako, Mali and a refugee camp based out of Rwanda.

Outside of COP27, the portal in the JN Planetarium has others plan in store. Gayatri Manu, the senior program associate at Science Gallery Bengaluru and the project lead of Global We, has been working with her team to identify people in the city who can be a good fit to facilitate and participate in programs at the portal.

"The latest iteration of the program started on December 5 and will run until the end of February next year. We are hosting certain talks called global cafe conversations, where our partners will come and speak with people from other parts of the world. We are also conducting a rap battle later this month, where a city-based rap group will jam around the theme of climate change with another rap group from a different part of the world," says Manu, who mentions that they intend to record all these conversations and eventually produce a publication out of it, which will be presented at the next COP summit.

Phalkey doesn't see themselves as awareness raisers. "We feel that instead of creating awareness, we want to begin a conversation where we try to understand how climate is affecting each of our lives. To begin from what people are experiencing on the ground and then through those conversations, allow for observations to emerge that people take away with themselves," says Phalkey, adding that a significant problem to look at is resource scarcity and inequity because it affects us in various ways depending on from where we are coming from.

Pramod G Galgali, director of JN Planetarium, feels such collaborative events are extremely pertinent. "Creating awareness amongst common people about the problem of climate change is the need of the hour. Public awareness, education and participation in efforts to address issues of climate change go a long way. So, certainly, there should be more projects," concludes Galgali.

The latest iteration of the program started on December 5 and will run until the end of February next year. We are hosting talks called global cafe conversations, where we speak with people from other parts of the world

Loving in Death

VIKTOR Frankl, in the book Man's Search for Meaning, explores the importance of meaning we make of the situations we find ourselves in from time to time, and how it is the meaning we make that determines our mental health and not the situation in itself. Frankl, having experienced Nazi death camps and survived them by holding on to a clear sense of purpose in this idea of meaning, writing and rewriting bits of it in whatever material was available while experiencing horror, suffering and death all around and all the time for years.

One of the stories that Frankl talks about in the book is not from the Nazi camps, but well after that, from Frankl's psychological practice – a client came in to talk about the grief and suffering following the death of a beloved partner of over two decades, crying about how it was so unfair to be left behind to suffer thus. Frankl writes in the book about listening to the person crying and cursing in all the pain that a loved one's death causes, and about asking one single question to this person: "Would you have rather that you had died and let your beloved survive you, suffering for years like you yourself are suffering now?" Frankl says the person just stopped in their tracks, thinking for a long time about the question, and then nods in quiet acceptance, only saying, "No, I couldn't bear the idea of my beloved suffering."

Death is inevitable. Even the most exalted love cannot save one from death, and often the death of a partner is just too painful to think about – we would go through life without ever really thinking about possible death, till old age or illness announces the clock is ticking, and reminds us of needing to prepare for the parting. Many times, even when the dying partner wants to settle worldly affairs, write wills and reset financial matters, the partner who would survive protests it as if such acts, even if it was the most practical step to take, were going to somehow hasten death, or be bad omens. "You'll get better, you will see!" the beloved says, denying reality till the very last moment.

If we really embrace the possibility of death and parting, it can liberate us – both as individuals and as people in relationships. Facing a relationship's possible end, if not by something as final as death, can allow us to live more fully. We don't have to plan the end itself, of course, but we can certainly plan for the end. It is an act of love to be able to think about the loved ones we leave behind when we part, and make sure that our wishes for their welfare and wellness is well-thought out, documented and understood. When people make vows to each other and promise to love each other till death does them apart, maybe we need to extend it a little bit more and promise to love each other even after death does one apart.

DO NOT SPECULATE ON KANTARA 2: RISHAB SHETTY

According to the writer-director-actor, whatever he plans to take up next will not be a regular film

CE FEATURES

RUMOUR mills were working overtime about a possible sequel to Kantara. However, in an interaction with Cinema Express, Rishab Shetty put an end to all such rumours. "Honestly, I am still completing my commitment with Kantara and I am yet to sit on my next project. Whatever we are planning to take up will not be a regular film; it requires a lot of time and needs strenuous research before we lock the script. It is a huge task," says Rishab. Rishab urges the audience to wait, and not go by the various speculations that are doing the rounds. "Whether it is Kantara 2 or any other project, we will come out with official details soon," he said.

The speculations have its roots in Rishab Shetty and team Kantara's (producer Vijay Kiragandur and actor Sapthami Gowda) recent visit to Mangaluru's Annappa Panjurli Kola. It was also said that preparation work has already begun and that Rishab is taking a cue from director SS Rajamouli's Baahubali and planning a prequel. In fact, it was even rumoured that the film will go on floors in January 2023.

About the temple visit, Rishab said, "It was a harike (vow) solely taken by our team to visit the temple, offer our prayers, and wholeheartedly thank god for the film's success. It was an emotional and beautiful moment spent at the temple. Nothing more than that. Surprisingly, our visit led to a lot of opinions."

'I was starstruck seeing Shivanna'

... says Ganavi Laxman, who plays the female lead alongside Century Star in Harsha's directorial Vedha

A still from the movie

A SHARADHAA

THE Pushpa Pushpa song from Shivarajkumar's 125th film Vedha was released a couple of days ago and it has put the film's heroine Ganavi Laxman under the spotlight. The actor, who became a household name with teleserial Magalu Janaki made her feature film debut with Rishab Shetty's Hero. Ganavi expresses happiness to share screen space alongside the Century Star in a film directed by A Harsha. Ganavi, With the film gearing up for the release slated on December 16, she shares how the offer changed her life. "I got this film, when I was emotionally low in my life, when I had thought to step back from acting. So, I consider Vedha to be my rebirth as an artist," says Ganavi, who goes on to thank the filmmakers who offered her roles during this phase, "Many directors approached me, and I am thankful for them. But, unfortunately, I didn't find any stories that excited me. I believe a good story will kindle the curiosity in an actor to wish for a role in it. I felt it while I listened to the narration of Vedha."

Talking about director Harsha, Ganavi says, "The moment I was a part of Vedha, the first thing I did was to watch all the previous films of the director, and I liked the way he portrayed his heroines. After working with Harsha I can now see the signature style he adds to his films."

She also shares her working experience with Shivanna. "Had I gone with a mindset that I was working with Shivarajkumar, the Century Star, in his 125th film, I would not have probably handled the character the way it was supposed to. I went with a blank mind and took baby steps while playing the role, which eventually helped me perform better." Ganavi states that Shivarajkumar encouraged the people on the sets even when he was going through a hard time post the demise of his brother Puneeth Rajkumar. "He was very encouraging and I cherish every moment of his presence on the sets. being an introvert, initially, I only managed to speak a few words to him. I was starstruck on seeing Shivanna, and I would often hide from him, and took time my time to connect. It was overwhelming to share screen space with a fine actor. Geetha, Shivanna's wife, who is producing the film also made sure we were comfortable with everything. I was glad to be working with a respectable team."

Despite Shivarajkumar being the face of Vedha, it is also told from a woman's perspective. Ganavi equates Vedha to energy. "Being a man is just not just about being powerful, it is about being a person with good qualities. Every man and woman should be like Vedha."

The actor has taken a short break from shooting and eagerly awaits the audience's reaction to the film and her role. "Working in films has become easy, but promotions put me under pressure. My next project will be planned post-Vedha release," she says. Vedha, produced by Geetha Pictures in collaboration with Zee Studios, is a rural period drama, and will be out in Kannada, Telugu, and Tamil. and also features Shwetha Chengappa and Aditi Sagar in important roles. With music by Arjun Janya, the film has cinematography by Swamy J.

I got this film, when I was emotionally low in my life, when I had thought to step back from acting. So, I consider Vedha to be my rebirth as an artist

Chirashree Anchan, the new face of Inamdar

CE FEATURES

CHIRASHREE Anchan is set to headline Sandesh Shetty Ajri's upcoming directorial, Inamdar. Earlier, the makers had roped in Bhoomi Shetty for the part, but the actor had to opt out of the project due to a leg injury.

The Kalpana 2 actor, who has also worked in Tulu, Tamil, and Telugu, will be joining Ranjan Chattrapatri, who plays the other lead. "The film, which revolves around the concept of racial discrimination, equality and brotherhood, has Chirashree Anchan and Ester Noronha playing strong characters," says the director who is currently busy with the post-production of Inamdar.

Backed by Niranjan Shetty Tallur under the Kuntiamma Production banner, Inamdar also has Pramod Shetty as one of the leads. The film also stars Sarath Lohitashwa, Avinash, Thriller Manju, MK Math, Estar Noronha, Yash Acharya, and Karan Kunder in pivotal roles.

Inamdar has Rakesh Acharya and N Murali as music director and cinematographer, respectively. "We plan to hit the theatres sometime in February 2023," says Sandesh.

Julie Andrews may not come back for The Princess Diaries 3

CE FEATURES

A few weeks back, it was reported that the third installment of The Princess Diaries, is in the making by Disney. However, as per new reports, it is said that Julie Andrews, who portrayed the role of Clarisse Renaldi, the Queen of Genovia, won't be part of the new film.

"I think we know that it's probably not going to be possible," Julie Andrews was quoted as saying to Access Hollywood. "It was talked about very shortly after (the second sequel) came out, but it's now how many years since then? And I am that much older and Annie the princess, or queen, is so much older. And I am not sure where it would float or run," the actor said in a Deadline report.

While much about the plot of The Princess Diaries 3 is not yet known, it is expected to be a continuation to The Princess Diaries: Royal Engagement. The Princess Diaries was directed by late Garry Marshall and is based on Meg Cabot's book by the same name.

Everyone is a hero in time'

SHILAJIT MITRA

SUDHIR Mishra flat out refuses to hang up his boots. Four decades in, he continues to churn out springy, exciting work. The quality of his output may vary: the critically-acclaimed Serious Men (2020) came sandwiched between the middling web-shows Hostages (2019—) and Tanaav (2022); there was Daas Dev (2018) to account for before that. Yet, on some level, it doesn't matter. To watch Sudhir—tall, erudite, his hair magnificently white and back straight as an arrow—keep plugging away at the old game is a delight.

We spoke to the director about his 80s Parallel Cinema origins, a funny scene from Hazaaron Khwaishein Aisi, authoring his next two films and more. Excerpts from a conversation...

Saeed Mirza* tells a story about you falling through the sets of a chawl in your early days.

When I came to Mumbai in the early 80s, it's directors like Saeed and Kundan Shah who allowed me to enter their worlds and write scripts with them. I was working with Saeed on his first film, Mohan Joshi Hazir Ho!. We had built a part of a chawl and I was putting up some props on it. It had solid flooring on one part and a little ahead was a fake floor. I stepped on it and went down (laughs).

People found parallels between Jaane Bhi Do Yaaro and the Morbi bridge collapse tragedy in Gujarat. Does it surprise you that the film has retained its bite so far into the future?

■ It's surprising and also sad. The fact that things like that are still happening isn't something we should get thrilled about. But too much credit also accrues to me for Jaane Bhi Do Yaaro. It was Kundan's film and I always returned that back. We were all angry and upset and young and wild when we made that film. But it was Kundan who guided the whole thing. I don't think he would have been particularly happy with the fact that people are still tagging JBDY and bridges are still falling.

I don't want to begrudge you your success on OTT. But they were all adaptations. What happened to the Sudhir Mishra who authored his own films?

■ Serious Men was a book adaptation so it's all right. It's the first time I tried interacting with another person's mind. And I think I was the better for it because it triggered me in a creative way. But now I'm shooting Afwaah with Nawazuddin Siddiqui and Bhumi Pednekar which is my script. It's a thriller. I also made a short film with Taapsee Pannu (in Anubhav Sinha's forthcoming anthology) which is also my script. It's about then and now and the idealism of parents and children. It's quite constructed like my first film, Yeh Woh Manzil Toh Nahin (1986).

The ending of Hazaaron Khwaishein Aisi gets spoken about a lot. But my favourite scene is when Vikram (Shiney Ahuja) goes to convert a royal palace into a hotel. It's a funny, acerbic scene, and not that integral to the whole film.

Well, it's an aside. When Shiv (late actor and screenwriter Shivkumar Subramaniam) and I were writing the script of Hazaaron, we happened to find the character of Vikram. He's the sort of guy we used to hate in college. He's the desi boy who comes to St. Stephen's to learn the social graces and enter the upper class. That scene is about Vikram and what he does for a living. It shows you another India emerging that wasn't all Naxals. You see the old feudal order disappearing and these big fixers coming in. The funniest and most obvious image for it was of a maharaja reduced to the post of a durban. I think the reason Hazaaron works is because it has the ability to laugh at itself.

Your films draw on the youth culture and politics of the 70s and 80s. Do you connect with the youth culture of today?

■ There's something wrong with it but obviously we (the older generation) are to blame. The kids have inherited a world that we have given to them. So in a sense they are reacting to where we failed. Which is sad because they are reacting to the idea of knowledge itself. They thought we were all a bunch of bullshitters and where did their dad's bullshit get them? They believe it's all a scam and everyone is compromised from their ideals. What they don't realise is everyone is a hero in time. There are no permanent heroes. They need to forgive their parents and move on rather than carry the hurt and betrayal they feel the older generation has done.

Is there an actor you always meant to work with but never did?

■ I have not worked with Naseeruddin Shah the way I'd like to (he appeared in my first film, Yeh Woh Manzil Toh Nahin). I did work with Irrfan (on Yeh Saali Zindagi). I would've liked to do it again. Smita Patil died before I started making my first feature. Mr. Bachchan I thought I would work with (on the shelved Mehrunissa, also meant to feature Rishi Kapoor) but something happened and I didn't. I would love to work with Mohanlal. He's an amazing actor. I almost did work with him but it slipped.

Recent film/shows that you really loved...

■ The Worst Person in the World, Drive My Car, Parasite, Succession, Homeland, Better Call Saul.

I found Tom Cruise's Top Gun: Maverick quite scary. Because now there is an imaginary enemy. We don't know who they are bombing the hell out of.
